

WE NOMINATE

David Eli Lilienthal, one of the eminent Princetonians of his time and for some three decades a decisive influence in shaping American "institutions" and national policies, who returns to 'TOWN TOPICS' front page in recognition of the publication of the first two volumes of his "Journals" — probably "the only personal journal of the 20th century worthy of comparison with the great diaries of early U.S. History." At a time in life when major actors in public affairs are thinking in terms of "the contemplative years," this 65-year old dynamo is zestfully in the midst of what might well be called his fifth career.

The Lilienthal volumes, "The TVA Years, 1939-1945" and "The Atomic Energy Years, 1945-1950," the initial step in a publishing undertaking of the first magnitude which will ultimately document one of the most dramatic periods in American history, pack a tremendous wallop for any reader over 40. As one chapter slips into the next, there emerge moving illuminations of "our times" and a striking portrait of the remarkable individual "who led in the pioneering development of the Tennessee Valley Authority, regarded as the most enduring accomplishment of the New Deal," and was the founding chairman of the U. S. Atomic Energy Commission.

In his foreword to "The Journals," Lilienthal, a diarist since his freshman year at DePauw University (Greencastle, Ind.), underscores the unique qualities of his work. "I have let the record stand as it was written, for if these Journals have a value, it is the value of a record made at the time, with instances of poor judgment, pettiness, vanity, and murky prose not edited and rewritten with the gift of hindsight but remaining as originally set down years ago." It is the parade "of spontaneous, candid and often acute perceptions about major public figures" that is in part responsible for the warm reception critics and other observers have given to this blend of "the stuff of which history is written."

Lilienthal's retirement from Federal service on February 15, 1950, only signaled the start of his third (and continuing) career. During the next five years, he served as a consultant, made lecture tours, traveled and wrote extensively. In one of his articles, following a trip to the Far East, he outlined the recently accepted plan for the development of the Indus River Basin by India and Pakistan. A letter in the Lilienthal Papers here in the University's Firestone Library records the late Prime Minister Nehru's deep gratitude to Lilienthal regarding this mammoth venture.

In the 1950's this former New Dealer, the son of emigrants from Austria-Hungary, and a native of Morton, Illinois, became a highly successful businessman, making a fortune as an executive with a mineral and chemical firm. Then in 1955 he and the late Gordon Clapp brought into being the Development and Resources Corporation, of which Lilienthal continues to hold forth as Chairman of the Board. The inspiration for D and R, a new kind of private enterprise, was Lilienthal's, in sensing the possibilities of putting the TVA idea to work in underdeveloped regions in Asia, Latin America and Africa.

For creating a distinctive American narrative which catches "the sensation of life as it is lived"; for "what he did, what he stood for, and was willing to fight for, during his distinguished Government careers"; he is our nominee as

WHITHER REPUBLICANS?

After Goldwater Defeat, Ever since Election Night, people have been asking "What will the Republicans do now?" Over the country, there is the cumbly sound of heads beginning to roll and the strident voice blaming it all on the other guy.

Here in Princeton, the situation within Republican ranks is, in the words of Richard Schoch, president of the Republican Club, "about normal." In a year that saw Princeton residents gathering to form "Republicans for Johnson" and "Independents for Johnson," a year in which the Borough of Princeton backed a Democratic presidential candidate for the first time since 1916 and not a single district fell to the Republican candidate, the Princeton Republican Club had the satisfying experience of watching its Township candidate get himself re-elected by a plump 706-vote margin, one of its two Borough Council candidates substantially re-elected and the other one defeated by only 32 votes.

What Next? As it does every year, the Republican Club held a post-election post mortem after the tallies were all in. "What did we do wrong? What can we do better next time?" "It was an extremely subdued gathering," says one who was there, "and Mr. Schoch presided in a very quiet, low-keyed manner."

At this meeting, President Schoch, whose two-year term expires next May, suggested an amendment to the Club's constitution. Still to be drafted formally, it would forbid any Republican Club officer, executive committee member or campaign manager to endorse publicly any Democratic candidate.

Nobody is naming names, but this almost happened to the Republican Club in 1964, and the Club wants to be sure it never has a chance to happen again.

All the Way. The amendment would apply to top men and women in the Club rather than to rank-and-file members, the idea being that if you want to work on the executive committee, you ought to be willing to endorse the whole ticket, whether the controversial candidate is Senator Goldwater or

HE REALLY EARNED THE BIDE: Captain Cosmo Iacavazzi had set a Princeton record for yards gained rushing in an Ivy League game Saturday when his teammates paraded him around the Yale Bowl on their shoulders. a Princeton Republican whose qualifications you question.

If you did publicly endorse an opposition candidate—or if you differed on a public question—you would be asked to resign your office, but not your membership in the Club. Whether you would be allowed to reclaim your office after the election, is still a moot point because the amendment hasn't been drafted yet.

The proposal has broad support and will undoubtedly be adopted when the Republican Club has its annual meeting next May.

"People should have a strong sense of loyalty and of organization," Mr. Schoch believes. "This is not just blind faith, but a realization that you cannot run a party without organization and continuity."

Mr. Schoch envisions a situation in which a loyal Republican party worker might work his head off during a campaign for all the candidates on the slate, then draw the curtains about him on Election Day and vote for a Democrat.

"Within that election booth, you're an individual American with the right to act as you believe," he states.

Did You Vote? The Republican Club knows that many members either quietly pulled the Democratic Presidential lever two weeks ago, or simply did not vote for a President at all. And of course many nominal Republicans who are not necessarily Club members acted in just that way.

There were 3,039 Township residents who voted for William L. Wilson and only 1,703 who voted for Goldwater. In the Borough, 2,076 people voted for Republican Alan Carlick and only 1,066 for Goldwater.

About 1,000 Princeton citizens, Borough and Township, belong to the Republican Club. Its former president, Hans K. Sander, says that the moderates exceed the conservatives (Mr. Sander was a Seranton man) and he estimates that the moderate-conservative ratio on the executive committee is about 2-1.

Members of the executive committee are, besides Mr. Schoch, David Thompson, vice-president, who will be president next May; John Moore;

Fisher who is Township Captain; Robert Dougherty who is Borough Captain; Mrs. Josie Mathey and Mr. Sander, both of whom are representatives to the Mercer County organization; Mrs. Donald Pickering, president of the Women's Republican Club and Samuel Lambert, chairman of the Young Division of the Republican Club.

What will happen in the Club elections next May will be interesting to watch. Mr. Thompson, in the wings awaiting for the presidency, understandably does not want to talk much about the Club and its composition, but he is thought to be one of the moderates. The executive committee is elected in May after a nominating committee has presented a slate, but the composition of this nominating committee is not yet known.

Over the executive committee, Borough and Township office holders, all candidates and a group of "elder statesmen" like former Princeton students C. Smoyer, John S. Mount, Maurice F. Healy Jr. and James G. Campbell, and stalwarts like Richard Baker, Theodore Kane, Charles Erdman and Truman B. Johnson. Mr. and Mrs. Orren Jack Turner, Mrs. Katherine Wood and Arthur Morgan are also regarded as valuable insiders. All of these are people who will either volunteer their help or leap into action if called on.

Who's A Republican? Actually, Princeton residents who signed the "Republicans for Johnson" advertisements were largely Republicans in name only if Republicanism can be defined as membership in the Princeton Republican Club. One "R. for J." paid his Republican Club membership on Election Eve.

The most prominent Republican name for Johnson was that of H. Kenneth Fairman, former mayor of the Township, but Mr. Fairman is, by his own statement, not a politically active man. Mr. Schoch refers to Mr. Fairman as "apolitical" and points out that he was never an active Club or party member, during his term of office or afterwards.

By contrast, the current Township mayor, William Wilson, is "political" — attends Club meetings and is an active Republican. He was not a Goldwater supporter, and last June in a joint statement with Mayor Patterson, urged the nomination of Gov. Scranton.

Mayor Patterson is "political" in a sense; he was Republican Committeeman in the Borough's Eighth District for some years, and he is known to Republican party workers as a man who is always responsive when asked to do specific jobs for the party. He sat in on party strategy meetings last summer, but he is busy being mayor and working at his full-time job.

Urge Non-Partisanship. Mayor Patterson observed this week that people are not especially "Republicans" or "Democrats" once they get to Borough Council and this is true of Township Committeemen as well.

Mayor Patterson also said he believes that Republican moderates, like himself, ought to stay in the battle, but he declined to say whether this meant that he would run again next year.

Mr. Fairman has also noticed that politics tend to stop at the Committee table, and he would like to see men elected to local office on a non-partisan basis. The parties don't go along with this, of course, because local parties are supposed to be where candidates get their start; however, the number of Princeton officeholders who have gone on to great things in county, state or nation is, to say the least, small. Mr. Sander thinks that Mr. Fairman and other "Republicans for Johnson" may well "work their heads off" from now on, join the Club and present their points of view, and he hopes very much that they will.

Perhaps the most significant comments on the present state of Republicans in Princeton come from Mr. Dougherty who, as Borough Captain on the Republican Club Executive Committee, has some lean areas to beef up.

The Borough's big District Three was divided and a new District Nine formed. The division line put Three's Committeeman and Committeewoman, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Krueger, in the new District Nine so Mr. Dougherty now has to find someone in District Three to replace them.

"Frankly, all I want is a couple of people who are keenly interested and willing to work," Mr. Dougherty said this week. "If a man says to me, 'Look, I was against Goldwater' or 'I was a strong Goldwater supporter'—well, ideology just isn't a factor. It's my job to fill these county vacancies, and what I want is people who will get in there and do the work."

GUNS GONE, DOG SAFE

Valuable Pet Left. Thieves stole two shotguns from a trailer in Godfrey, Ill., this week but didn't take a dog reportedly worth $15,000 belonging to a Princetonian. The dog, Lord Beaver of Cork, a Labrador belonging to Mrs. Charles E. Lambert of 626 Snowden Lane, was found outside the trailer in a field.

The retriever was in Illinois with his handler for field trials before the national championships being held in St. Louis next week. His handler, William Wunderlick, is from St. Paul, Minn.

Mrs. Lambert said Lord Beaver was one of five dogs she has entered in the championships. She has kennels here in Princeton, in Hopewell and in Minnesota.

She is reported as owning between 40 and 50 dogs. She says of Lord Beaver: "He is a very special dog. He's enormous... one of my great dogs."

TOPICS Of The Town

APPROVE LIBRARY PLANS

Township Acts, in a vote-of-confidence resolution, Township Committee on Monday night voiced its approval of revised plans for the new Princeton Public Library.

The resolution had been requested by library trustees. Mayor William L. Wilson summarized a letter from Emerson Greenaway, library consultant, which said, in effect, go ahead and cut off 3,000 square feet if you want to, but you're only hastening the day when you'll have to enlarge the building.

Mayor Wilson said that probably the $1,103,000 cost of the library would be spread out over more than one year, with $750,000-$800,000 construction costs allotted next year, equipment the following year, and so on. Costs will be shared with the Borough on a tax rateables basis.

Thirteen locations on Lake Carnegie will be equipped this winter with life rings and at least 60 feet of rope, in the hope that drowning tragedies can be prevented.

The stations were pinpointed after a survey of critical points on the lake, and after agreement was reached with the University, which owns the lake. Equipment has been ordered and will be in place by the time skating begins, according to Committeeman Walter B. Foster.

Is Princeton "Urban?" The Township and the Borough have jointly filed application with the Federal government for Open Space money to help buy the Harrop property joining the north part of Community Gardens.

The total purchase price is $164,300. Half of this will be paid by New Jersey under Green Acres. Township officials hoped that the Federal government would pay 30% of the rest, leaving Borough and Township to split the remaining 20%.

But Tuesday morning, when Administrator Joseph R. Nini took the application to Philadelphia, he was told that Princeton-Borough and Township together—did not qualify as "urban" and therefore could receive only 20% of the cost and not 30%.

Fortunately, Mr. Nini was able to tell Federal authorities that the Township is exploring an Open Space agreement with Mercer County. Under this agreement, Borough and Township would be considered part of the Trenton Metropolitan Region, and would file their Open Space ideas with the Mercer County Planning

PLANNING CHRISTMAS BAZAAR: Mrs. Norbert A. Considine Jr. (right, standing) is chairman of the second annual Christmas Bazaar for Stuart Country Day School of the Sacred Heart, scheduled for 11 to 4 on Saturday, December 5, at the school. Meeting with her are committee chairmen (from left, seated) Mrs. Matthew T. Geis Jr., needlework; Mrs. David W. Blair, liturgical art, and (standing) Mrs. Raymond A. Dougherty, gourmet foods. Also appointed are Mrs. James R. Thayer, candy boutique; Mrs. Leon Christen, boutique; Mrs. George O'Neil, international booth; Mrs. Robert W. Johnson Jr., Stuart students' Christmas ornaments, and Mrs. Konard Schaum, liturgical art.

Board. If the county planners approved any given plan, it would automatically qualify for the 30% Federal slice.

Details will be worked out in time to acquire the Harrop property under the agreement.

Pool Talk. "We need a public swimming pool and we will have a public swimming pool," stated Committeeman Russell B. Mount after a discussion between Committee members and two representatives of PAHR who appeared before Committee, as they had last week before Borough Council, to press the pool question.

The representatives were John Counts and Seymour Adler. Mayor Wilson told them that the pool was now legally in the hands of the new Joint Recreation Commission and that Committee could only budget whatever recommendations the Commission produced. Asked by Mr. Counts to what extent Committee would approve any pool recommendation, Mayor Wilson said it depended on how much money was involved.

"It is not our desire to undermine the Recreation Commission," Mr. Counts emphasized "but we feel strongly that the needs of the greatest number of people in Princeton should be considered." He pointed out that a pool would probably serve more people than a row of ten tennis courts.

Township engineer Frank Quinby said that money had already been budgeted for 10 courts. He also told Mr. Counts and Mr. Adler that the Recreation Commission had made a specific request for a pool architect, and that money to retain one was in the 1965 budget. "The pool probably won't be built in 1965, but we are going ahead," Mr. Quinby added.

Mayor Wilson said he thought that meeting dates of the Joint Recreation Commission should be publicized so that the public could attend.

FUND UP TO 80%!
Over $300,000 Raised. Only $77,000 more is needed to put the United Fund-Red Cross Campaign over the top for the fifth year in a row. Campaign chairman Bernard Barenholtz has expressed confidence that, with additional effort in all divisions, this year's goal of $385,263 can be met.

Most recent figures show that $303,120 has already been collected. Reports to date from the divisions show: Special Gifts, Mrs. William Walker and Mrs. Taylor Woodward, chairman, $89,380; Neighborhood, Mrs. William Cherry and Mrs. Amasa Bishop, chairman, $25,165; Mercantile, Ralph Mather, chairman, $5,877.

Also, Professions, Fred Peterson and Leslie Vivian, chairman, $28,578; Research, Ross Sigman, chairman, $122.—Continued on Page 4

SCHOOL HEARING MONDAY

On Township Report. Township residents have been urged by school officials to attend the public hearing Monday night on the Citizens' Advisory Committee report on Long-Range School Planning. The public meeting will be held at 8 at Community Park School. It supersedes the regular school board meeting which would have been held this Thursday.

In the citizens' report are 23 specific recommendations on administration, instruction, personnel, and of course, the possibility of a separate high school for Princeton Township. Copies of the report are available at The University Store, Male's Book Shop, the public library, in every school office and at the Stony Brook Administration Building on Stockton Street.

In a statement issued this week, Mrs. Harold Sprout and Mrs. George Freeman, members of the Citizens' Committee, said:

"The meeting will not only afford an opportunity to express one's views to the people who make the decisions, but it may be the last such opportunity, so far as the report is concerned."

Mrs. Sprout and Mrs. Freeman pointed out that the Township School Board has already issued a memorandum accepting the report and is scheduled to take action at Monday's meeting.

The two Committee members express the hope that "parents and taxpayers who find themselves in disagreement with the conclusions and recommendations of the Report will come to the meeting Monday and express their views."

Question and Answer

Q: Gonna have a Blow of snow?
A: No!

The coldest weather so far reached these parts this week, but nothing like snow is in the offing. Precipitation of any kind, however, remains badly needed.

The cool weather will linger a while, along with some high-flying clouds. The weekend forecast is for generally clear skies.

a bicycle on Washington Road. Mrs. Marie Kendall died an hour later of a massive compound fracture of the skull and brain hemorrhaging. Princeton Hospital doctors gave the time as 4:17 p.m. Police believe Mrs. Kendall's head was thrown against the car's shift lever, leaving a lethal wound.

Her husband, Burton W. Kendall, 81, the driver, escaped serious injury. He was treated for lacerations of the right side of the face and pains in the back.

Currently free on $1000 bail is the driver of the tractor-trailer, Jesse J. Batie, 37, of Trenton. Charged with causing death by driving in a careless manner, Mr. Batie will appear in Borough Court December 14. He has also been charged with careless driving.

According to the police report, Mr. Batie said that Mr. Kendall's 1961 Buick pulled in front of him when he was about 100 feet away from the intersection of Elm. Police quoted Mr. Batie as saying it was impossible not to avoid a collision.

Mr. Kendall, police said, told them he had halted for the stop sign at the foot of Elm, waited for traffic to pass and then attempted to turn left onto Stockton. He never saw the tractor-trailer bearing down on him, he said. Police charged him with a stop sign violation.

The truck, owned by the C & R Waste Materials Co. of Trenton, skidded 25 feet and Mr. Kendall's car, 34 feet, after the point of impact. Both ended up on the south curb of Stockton. The entire front end of the Kendall car, which left 105 feet of skid marks to the point of impact, was demolished. Police were forced to detour traffic for 15 minutes following the mishap.

His Teenage Cyclist. Two days earlier, at 7:40 Wednesday evening, a car operated by Frank J. Tuccillo Jr., 26, of Trenton, and Bonny M. Chang, 17, 13½ Witherspoon Street, riding a bicycle, came together at the intersection of Witherspoon and Hullfish Streets. Miss Chang received abrasions of the left ankle and right knee. Mr. Tuccillo, turning left onto Witherspoon from Hullfish, told Borough police he did not see the cyclist until his passenger yelled. He added that although the street lights were on, the dark-colored

News Of The THEATRES

"STREETCAR" ON STAGE
Last Repertory Offering. McCarter's fall season of American plays has come to a close with a production of Tennessee Williams' "A Streetcar Named Desire," which will play again this Thursday and Friday. The four-play repertory cycle will end this Saturday with a performance of "Three Men on a Horse."

Undergraduates who never saw "Streetcar" because they were too young, or adults who are catching it for the first time, may wonder what all the fuss has been about, because this McCarter production is singularly slack.

Throughout the evening — and it is a long one, ending at midnight — you wait impatiently for the high — tension wires to crackle but all you get is breaking china. There is superficial violence here, under Tom Brennan's direction; rarely anything more.

In "Streetcar," Williams contrasts the sickness and decay of southern gentility with the virility of new American blood, personified by a young American with a Polish name.

Into the two-room New Orleans apartment of Stanley Kowalski and his wife, Stella, comes Stella's sister, Blanche DuBois, trailing pink chiffon and a phony fastidiousness and the faintly decaying smell of stale magnolias. Stella, living a happy and earthy life with her Stanley, has left magnolias far behind.

The tensions that arise among these three provide Williams with his dramatic theme. But Mr. Brennan's direction does not give us much of that tension and contrast. He has not set Blanche and Stella apart from each other with sufficient sharpness; he has directed with too gray a hand, so that we do not have sudden, exciting peaks of light and darkness and he has not sat in the back of the theatre to see whether everyone can be heard clearly and vividly; they cannot, not with anything like consistency, and Jan Farrant as Blanche, is sometimes almost inaudible.

Miss Farrant is a perfectly adequate Blanche, but Eve Roberts is such a colorful Stella that you wonder what Stanley, who obviously wants his women to be women, ever saw in her.

In one scene, Stella tries to convey to Blanche what she feels about Stanley, and how happy she is, living on an honest, animal, elemental level. Here is a big chance to develop contrast between the two sisters and the way they have responded to their southern upbringing, but the director and actress let the moment slide.

Louis Zorich is a good actor and has done well throughout the McCarter fall season. He is a big Stanley, muscular in his undershirt and in command of the inflections of lower class speech. But he does not make Stanley sufficiently vivid.

Even in his china-smashing scenes, in spite of all the noise and crash, he somehow misses the essential violence and he never projects to the audience the open, palpable sexuality that is so fundamental to this character. At the end, when he and Blanche finally keep

MRS. BURTON: Elizabeth Taylor in "Cleopatra" at the Playhouse through Tuesday.

"the date we've had from the beginning," the scene, which should be electric with sexual tension, is almost thrown away.

Visually, this production is imaginative. Barbara Miller as designer, and Gilbert V. Hensley as lighting man, have designed a set with some wonderful flashing signs—"Fun," "Bowling," "Red-hot"—that give a fine "street scene" garishness and Richard Anderson has designed a collection of costumes that delineate character as well as a Williams line: a saggy-hemmed housedress, worn with ankle-socks by the upstairs neighbor; a plain, clean maternity dress for Stella and chiffon that trails like live oak, for Blanche.

But those street-lights are about all you'll get in the way of electricity.

IT'S NEW To Us

CHRISTMAS ALREADY?
Of Course! Christmas comes right after Halloween in the calendar of conscientious Christmas shoppers, and now that we've tossed the pumpkin out the window, we're ready to begin on the tinsel.

Each year, TOWN TOPICS
presents a series of five Christmas shopping columns devoted to telling you what to buy and where. We begin this week in a plan-ahead theme: things to sew and knit, expensive investment presents to plot in advance. Next week, we'll tell you about personal gifts; the following week, we'll be in the top shops; the week after that, we'll describe house presents; and finally, we'll leave you with a rousing toast and a slice of good plum pudding as we write about food and drink.

HOW TALL A DOLL?
Just Needle—Size. Pattern makers are pushing doll clothes hard this year, and if your 10-year-old is all thumbs, why not quietly borrow her Tammy, Pepper or Tressy and make a sophisticated wardrobe that will bring a "wow!" of delight on Christmas morning.

The Fabric Shop on Chambers Street opens its Simplicity pattern book to show you dis-cotheque dresses, a black net sheath, ruffled blouses, skinny pants and a Chanel suit, all designed for 10½, 12, 14 and 18-inch dolls. Kilts and a "sweater" are for the sporty types and there's a formal with lace ruffles all down the skirt. Who has more fun? You making the clothes, or Tressy wearing them?

If you are ambitious you can even make suits for the boyfriend dolls. We say: "Give her the pattern for Christmas, and let her make 'em herself!"

Stuffed animals are wonderful Christmas presents to make.
Here's Simplicity's terry-cloth duck and a sleeping, red-haired rag-doll who couldn't stay awake long enough to be cud-dled.

Humpty-Dumpty and King Cole can be stuffed, too, but we like the sleepy rag-dolls.
And you know what? There are even clothes patterns for little-girl dolls, with smocked yokes and such. We didn't know little girls played with them any more.

To Wit: Knit. At The Knitting Shop on Tulane Street, you'll find a white pique pinafore to embroider for Christmas. It has a red basket pocket right in front, with cross-stitch trim and a stuffed felt dog peering out of the pocket.

Knit, for a toddler, the same Jayvee pullover his dad wears, or an Irish fisherman's sweater just like mother's. For a teen-ager, buy the raven jumper shift and embroider its two sprays of flowers ($7.99).

Packs for quick Christmas knitting include the mohair trio ($5.99) with V-neck, cardigan or boatneck shell to choose from, in 11 colors. The mohair raglan sweater kit is only $6.99.

Busy thinking up things for you to knit in a hurry? The Knitting Shop comes up with a cable knit carryall bag, or one in a big popcorn stitch, natural, black, brown, scarlet or navy, $5.99 and $9.99.

If you'd rather embroidery,
The Knitting Shop has crewel bags and a crewel carry-all done in butterfly and leaf design on linen. The thing we like about these knit and embroided bags is that "no skill is required to mount the frame." Lovely words, aren't they? "No skill required."

It's New To Us

straight sheath is still an acceptable fashion. Stop in at Gretchen's Fabric Shop on Route 130, and look at the white brocade in medallion pattern, with an occasional medallion re-embroidered in white ribbon. It costs twenty dollars a yard. If you please, but you wouldn't need much, really.

Cloque from France is textured, double-woven, with an interesting puckered look, in red, white or a gold-beige combination. $11 a yard.

For about the same price, Gretchen has black crepe beaded in an all-over circular pattern, and another black crepe with ribbon meandering all over the surface.

A black brocade is splashed with big red roses. Here's a black rayon-nylon-metallic fabric from Germany with small, gleaming bejeweled flowers against the darkness.

For You. If you're too busy to sew in time for Christmas, give a yard of fabric to someone who sews and let her do it yourself. For just such a gift, Gretchen suggests a fringe print from France, $10 a yard. It's called a "nervous fabric" because the layered fringe shimmers against an orange-red-green floral imprinted on grey. (Gretchen's suggests a solid color velvet skirt to go with it).

If you want to spend $15, here's a Luxe and silk French fabric in pale lavender with glints of pink, blue and green. A polyester from Germany feels like silk but isn't. The design is gold against black, but the gold is so thickly done that the black hardly even counts on the right side; you could actually use either side.

Here They Come!

Guests coming for the holidays? The first thing you'll need is a new vacuum to sweep up the guest room, and then...

Hide-a-Bed? Nassau Interiors has these at $199, and you can huy them right off the floor. Ivy Manor has them, too, and in your choice of modern, Colonial or traditional styles.

Bigger dining table? Viking has a refectory table that opens out big enough to accommodate even your brother-in-law. An oval table can seat 16 people and is 139 inches with 3 leaves inserted. It's only 59 inches long, closed.

(If you're not modern, turn to Schwartz' enchanting little drop-leaf dining table with faint fruit-flower stencil on the apron.)

Guest-room drawer space? Rug Mart's 3-drawer cherry bachelor's chest looks as though it had 12 small square drawers, but the white knobs just make things seem that way. Wonderful for small quarters, but not skimpy-looking.

More ice-cubes? Philco's Power Saver refrigerator with the fast-freeze ice cube trays. Cubes tumble right out without sticking or tasting like metal.

A second TV? Guests can use the 11-pound Sony (9-inch screen), which has no warm-up time because it's all transistorized. Runs on batteries or plugs in. Converts to a travel case, so watch out, or the house-guest may just decide to see if he can get away with it. $189 at the University Store.

All the trimmings at Gretchen's for holiday sewing: lace medallions, black or white, to be used in a row or cut off for single appliques on dress or sweater... hand-made pearl and crystal fringe at $5.50 a yard... black jet on net fringe.

If you know someone who sews, but wishes she did it better, give her ten two-hour sewing lessons at Gretchen's for $20. These are for women who really want to be more adroit with a needle. "We won't make aprons, bibs or stuffed animals," Gretchen promises.

LONG AND LOVELY
Skirts Are at Home. Fireside chats in fireside skirts are in the holiday plans of the Fabric Shop. The Chambers Street shop wants you to make lots of at-home skirts for the holidays, and suggests you begin with Patou's design translated into Vogue 6310—a long skirt, gathered but not full, made of one and one-fourth yards of glen and houndstooth wool in red and white. Other skirts can be box-pleated or darted, whichever you prefer.

And fabrics! A green Donegal tweed would be great for a country farmhouse hearth; a small wool check, almost like a gingham, in red or blue, is another country nifty.

Either light-weight, bright weight rose wool or butter yellow good enough to eat, would be splendid for holiday entertaining. On top, The Fabric Shop suggests rich colors for a shell or overblouse. Garnet, American Beauty, emerald, copen or white velvet? Sure! Metallics, full of light and sheen, or riotously flowered silks. Pure silk Bengaline in brick red, deep teal or dull gold comes, in the ease of gold, with matching brocade.

Now, for gift sewing. The Fabric Shop has orlon fleece bicycle had no reflectors and that Miss Chang was wearing a dark brown coat. Police made no charges.

Two in The Towship. An 11-year-old cyclist and a 17-year-old pedestrian were struck last week by cars in Princeton Township. Both accidents occurred on Saturday. Donald Tocco, 11, a sixth grade student at St. Paul's School, was struck from behind by a car and knocked to the roadway as he was riding his bicycle across the intersection of Grover and Dorann Avenues. He was taken to Princeton Hospital by the Princeton First Aid and Rescue Squad and treated for a mangled ear and leg fracture.

The driver, Mrs. Elizabeth Perpetua, 76, 405 Franklin Avenue, was charged with careless driving. She told police she did not see the boy.

Melvin Scott, 17, of Trenton, an employee of the Princeton Disposal Company, was hit at 7:50 that morning when he stepped from behind a parked car in front of 223 Birch Avenue. He was taken to Princeton Hospital after complaining of severe back injuries.

Mr. Scott, unloading garbage cans, told police he looked both ways and saw nothing, before stepping out into the roadway. As he did so, he continued, he then saw a car bearing down on him but he was unable to get back in time.

The driver was Salvatore Di Meglio, 18, 39 Birch Avenue. He was ticketed for driving without corrective glasses.

TWO ARE INJURED

In Bruere's Hill Accident. Two Trenton drivers were slightly injured Monday afternoon in a three-car accident on Bruere's Hill, which was triggered by Mrs. Cornelia Luhnman, 53, of Washington Street, Rocky Hill.

Treated at Princeton Hospital for back injuries and released was Arthur Berreitter, 52, Mrs. Sarah Ruffin, 39, was treated for a bruised knee.

Township Police said the multiple accident began when Mr. Berreitter's car struck the rear of the Luhnman car, backing from a driveway onto Route 206. Mrs. Ruffin, in turn, was unable to stop in time from running into the rear of the Berreitter car.

Mrs. Luhnman was charged with careless driving and backing into a public road from a driveway.

WATER SUPPLY ADEQUATE
Says Water Company. Water supplies are adequate despite the prolonged drought, and no restrictions on use are planned, according to officials of the Princeton Water Company.

A company spokesman said that customer demands are lower this time of the year and "there is an adequate supply of water to serve everyone normally." Serving both Borough and Township, the water company obtains its supplies from wells and the Delaware and Raritan Canal.

TWO OFFICES ENTERED

Two Wallets Stolen. The offices of two service agencies were broken into last week in the Borough. Both entries were reported last Thursday.

Early in the morning, Mrs. Mary Sage, executive director of the Princeton Chapter of the American Red Cross, 71 University Place, called to report that someone had rifled a desk drawer in the small building to get at a petty cash box. Taken, she said, were 100 3c stamps and an envelope containing 10 pennies. Police report that a kitchen door was forced to gain entry.

In the afternoon, Mrs. Shire-ly Cohen, office secretary of The Child Guidance Center, 253 Nassau Street, reported $25 missing from the Center's office. Mrs. Cohen said that keys taken from a desk were used to open filing cabinets in the room. One cabinet yielded $23 from a cash box; another, $2 in coffee money. There was no sign of forced entry, police said.

Wallets Stolen. An enterprising thief commandeered a garbage can Monday evening to steal a purse from a window ledge at 43 University Place.

Mrs. Sarah Campbell, 226 Harrison Street, told police she had put her purse on a window ledge, while working in the University Place building. She ran out of the building to alert police when she saw a hand reach up and grab her purse.

Police surrounded the area but were unable to apprehend the purse-snatcher. Patrolman John Bellow later found the empty purse in the Edwards Place parking yard, a short distance way. It contained $3, Mrs. Campbell said.

Earlier in the week, a wallet containing $18 and a $58 payroll check was stolen from the mailroom of Mettler Instrument Corp., 20 Nassau Street.

Found two days later in the basement of 20 Nassau Street, the empty wallet belonged to Mrs. Marie Sweeney, 28 Burnington Tree Lane, Lawrenceville, a secretary for Mettler. The theft was reported on Veterans' Day.

 fined Monday by Borough Magistrate Theodore T. Tame Jr., four for traffic violations. Fined $15 each were Walter Jennings, 76, 23 Lytle Street, for failing to keep right, and Everett May, Jr., 27, of Blawenburg, failure to obey a traffic officer's signal. A $16 fine was levied against Carol Cruser, 22, 37 William Street, for speeding, while Raymond VanMarter, 17, Blawenburg, paid $10 for careless driving. Mr. VanMarter's license was revoked for 10 days.

To criminal court, Robert W. Hale III, 20, 252 Witherspoon Hall, was fined $60 as a minor in possession of alcohol. A similar fine was imposed on Willie L. Bullock, 33, 108 Leigh Avenue, who was in court to answer a charge of assault lodged by his wife, Marlene. In addition, Bullock received a 90-day suspended sentence to the Mercer County Workhouse and was placed on a year's probation.

The Division of Motor Vehicles has suspended for 30 days the licenses of two area drivers for speeding.

They are Carol Woll, Mill Road, Dutch Neck, and Bradford B. Green, 29, Hollow Road, Skillman.

GUIDE IS PUBLISHED

Traces Campus Architecture. "The Princeton University Campus: A Guide," just published by the Princeton University Press, portrays the architectural growth of Princeton University from 1756 through today. The Guide sells for $1.50 and is available in all Princeton bookstores.

The Guide contains 149 pictures of old, new, and projected buildings. As each generation built and remodeled the University, the result, as the Guide illustrates, was a melange of architectural styles: Georgian, Russian Gothic, Florentine Renaissance, Classic Revival, Romanesque and nondescript.

Some of the biggest changes have occurred since World War II. After the war, it was felt, for reasons of cultural expression and economy, the University could not continue to build in the old and costly Gothic manner. Today, Princeton's architecture is "modern".

In this new modern pattern are nearly a score of new buildings: the Engineering Quadrangle, the Architecture, Music, Biology and Chemistry buildings, the Woodrow Wilson School and the University

NEW JUDGE: Glen B. Miller Jr. was formally appointed on Monday night to a three-year term as Township magistrate, starting December 31.

Store. All of these new additions, as well as some projected ones, are contained in the Guide.

OLYMPIANS TO BE GUESTS
 Of Rotary on Tuesday. Three Princetonians who played a part in the 1964 Olympic Games at Tokyo last month will be guests of the Rotary Club Tuesday at its weekly luncheon at the Nassau Inn. Irwin M. Weiss, a member of the United States Olympic Committee, will speak. Assistant track coach at Princeton, Mr. Weiss is director of physical education at the Witherspoon and Nassau Street schools.

Miss Lesley Bush, women's platform diving champion, and Bill Bradley, member of the victorious Olympic basketball team, will be present to take part in a question-and-answer period. Miss Bush is a senior at Princeton High School, Mr. Bradley a senior at Princeton University.

TWO BROOKS POLLUTED

In West Windsor, Chemicals of undetermined nature and origin have recently polluted two small streams near Plainsboro, killing the fish. Residents of the area summoned investigators from the state department of health and the fish and game commission about two weeks ago after they saw dead fish in Devil's Brook and Bee Brook.

While some suspicion has been attached to the University's Forrestal Research Center as the possible source of the chemicals, state officials have not yet reached any determination of the cause. A University spokesman, meanwhile, has emphasized that there is no radioactive waste at Forrestal which could have been responsible for the pollution.

INDIAN LECTURE FILLED

For Saturday. No more tickets remain for the Princeton Junior Museum lecture on Indian lore Saturday morning.

The program, sponsored by the Morven Society, Children of the American Revolution, features Indian songs, rituals and dances by Lightfoot Talking Eagle, chief of the Susquehanna nation, and his wife, Princess Fleetdeer.

After the program, which begins at 10 a.m. in Borough Hall, the Indian Guide officers of the YMCA will serve as hospitality committee.

DINNER-DANCE SET

By Elks Auxiliary. The third annual Snowball Dinner-Dance, sponsored by the Ladies Auxiliary of Princeton B.P.O. Elks Lodge 2129, is scheduled for 7 p.m. Saturday, December 3, at Charlie's Farm Inn, Route 206, Belle Meade.

Mrs. Charles Strehlow and Mr. Alfred Rohath are in charge of tickets. Music will be provided by Clarence Knick and his Original Gentlemen.

3 p.m. Coffee will be served at the church.

The purpose of the drive, according to the committee in charge, is "to aid those needy people in Mississippi who lost their means of livelihood because they took part in the non-violent movement of protest in the South." Mrs. Martin Katz is chairman of the Hopewell Township part of the drive, which is being held simultaneously in Princeton and Pennington.

The drive will continue through December 5. Cash contributions are also gratefully accepted by the committee.

The First Baptist Church of Pennington, this Saturday's collection point, is located on the corner of Crawley Avenue and Academy Street, opposite the primary school. Persons in both Hopewell and Pennington who are unable to bring in their contributions are offered pick-up service if they will phone 737-1349 or 737-0839.

Prenatal Class Scheduled

The next in a series of classes for expectant parents will begin on Monday at 7:30 p.m. in Princeton Hospital. The classes, which consist of eight lectures covering prenatal and postnatal care, are sponsored jointly by the hospital, the Princeton Chapter of the Red Cross and the Visiting Nurse Association.

The sessions are open to all expectant parents in the area at no charge. Mrs. Ruth Adams, of the Visiting Nurse Association, will conduct the series.

Application for attendance may be made through doctors' offices, the Visiting Nurse Association or at Red Cross headquarters on University Place. Reservations may also be made by phoning the Red Cross at 924-2404.

at 8 p.m. Monday, November 30 at the Community Park School. The purpose is to inform the community about all phases of the planned library building.

Speakers will include Dr. Emerson Greenaway of the Philadelphia Free Library, trustees' consultant, Robert H. Staples, librarian; Thaddeus Longstrech, architect; William L. Wilson, Township mayor, and Henry S. Patterson, borough mayor. Members of the Borough Council and Township Committee will also be on hand.

RECEPTION PLANNED

By Wilson College Club. The annual reception for prospective students and their parents will be held by the Wilson College Club on Friday. The meeting will take place at 8 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Lefteris Loescher, 74 Mercer Street.

Guest speaker will be Mrs. Paul Leitch, director of admissions at Wilson. Mrs. Peter French and Miss Jacqueline Grattan of Princeton, two recent graduates, will discuss academic and social life at the college.

TEA FOR BRYN MAWR

Club to Meet Friday. A tea for prospective students will be given by the Bryn Mawr Club of Princeton on Friday from 4 to 6 p.m. at the home of Mrs. Samuel G. Frantz, 64 Battle Road. Mrs. Herbert Lee, alumnae association executive secretary, will speak to the group.

Juniors and seniors in Central New Jersey schools who are interested in attending the tea should call Mrs. John B. Hughes at 924-4964. Transportation will be arranged.

A luncheon for guidance counselors from schools in the same area will also be held on Friday, at the home of Mrs. Lyman Spitzer Jr., 659 Lake Drive. Mrs. Spitzer is president of the Bryn Mawr alumnae association.

HOW THEY DO GROW!

Children, 5-7. "Patterns of Child Growth — Ages 5-7 Years" is the topic chosen by Dr. Julia W. Gordon for a round-table discussion to be held for members of the Lawrenceville Elementary PTA this Thursday at 8:15.

"My Autobiography," Charlie Chaplin. (Public Library)

RECOMMENDED.....

"Corridors of Power," C. P. Snow. Latest in his series. (University Store)

"Anna Domini," George Steiner. A collection of three novelettes (Princeton Book Mart)

"The Brigadier and the Golf Widow," John Cheever. Sophisticated commentaries on modern social life. (Public Library)

The new "Little Golden Library" and its 24 titles for children, consisting of old favorites done up in miniature bindings. (Male Book Shop)

Topics Of The Town

Office of Child and Youth Study, Division of Curriculum and Instruction, State Department of Education. The meeting will be held in the All-Purpose Room of the elementary school.

FOOD DRIVE OPENS

For Crittenton Home. Thanksgiving donations of canned goods and other non-perishable food begins this Thursday, sponsored by the Princeton Circle of the Florence Crittenton Home.

Collection points are the Acme, A&P, Food Mart, Lyons Market, Nassau Delicatessen, Nassau Quality Market, Royal Scarlet Store, YWCA and Miss Fine's School. The Borough schools are also cooperating. The drive ends at 1 p.m. next Wednesday.

SCOUTS TO RETREAT

Along Washington's Path. This Saturday, Boy Scout troops will re-enact Washington's November 1776 retreat which preceded the battles of Trenton and Princeton. The line of march here will be along Route 27 in the Princeton area.

Organized as part of the Tercentenary celebration, with Walter F. Fullam as Princeton chairman, the entire march will be carried out in a series of 12 segments, each starting at 9:30 a.m.

Marchers for the Princeton-Lawrenceville segment will assemble at the Kingston Presbyterian Church. They will follow Route 27 and Nassau Street to the Princeton Battle Monument.

Hightstown Boy Scouts will cover the march from Princeton to Lawrenceville, leaving the monument at approximately 11 a.m. Lawrence Township units will proceed from Lawrenceville to Trenton.

Joining with Princeton will be the Tercentenary committees in Franklin Township, headed by L. M. Gerber, and Lawrence Township with Robert E. Immordino in charge. All organizations and individuals are invited to take part.

GUEST NIGHT PLANNED

By Woman's Club. The annual "Guest Night" session of the Woman's Club of Princeton is set for 8 p.m. this Saturday at the Shrine Club, River Road.

Featured will be cartoonist John J. Liney Jr. and a film "Moon Shot," narrated by Louis Snee of RCA's Astro-Electronics Division.

A social hour follows the meeting.

JAYCEE MEETING SET

For New Members. An orientation meeting will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Holiday Inn for new and prospective members of the Princeton Jaycees. Guest speakers will be Leonard Newton, past local and State Jaycee president, and John Lasley, chapter past-president and Jaycee Football Classic executive director.

At the regular monthly meeting, the Jaycees will complete plans for several future projects. These include the Mercer County Junior Miss Pageant, co-sponsored with the Pennington Jaycees; the Letters-to-Santa project; a benefit party at McCarter Theatre, and a Christmas party.

SENIOR CITIZENS MEET

At YWCA. The Senior Citizens Club of the Princeton YWCA has scheduled meetings for alternate Friday afternoons to which all women of the older generation are invited. The next meeting will be held Friday in the lounge of the "Y" with dessert and coffee at 1:30 p.m. and a program to follow at 2:30.

Entertainment is provided by speakers on a variety of subjects, usually illustrated with slides. Occasionally there is a musical program or an afternoon of cards, and a gala Christmas party is planned for December 16.

No reservations are necessary for any of the meetings. Transportation can be arranged by calling Miss Harris at the YWCA, 924-4825.

MRS. BISHOP TO REPORT

At Goucher Club Session. Princeton area alumnae are welcome at the fall meeting of the Goucher Club of Princeton, to be held at 8 p.m. next Tuesday at the home of Mrs. G. Reginald Bishop Jr., 166 Wilson Road. Mrs. Bishop will report on the Alumnae Council meetings.

Mrs. R. Stockton Gaines, president, will conduct a brief business session to discuss the sale of hand-decorated Christmas tree balls and the winter meeting.

ONE-ACT PLAYS SET

At PHS. Jonesco's "A Bald Soprano," "Theatre of the Soul" by Yevreinoff and "Passion, Poison and Petrification" by Shaw will be presented by Princeton High School students this Friday. Curtain rises at 8 p.m.

Play directors are Judy Epstein, Jane Guldenson, Wendy Shaul and Judy Schenck, all of the senior class. Tickets are $1.

GOING BACK in Town Topics

FIVE YEARS AGO

November 12, 1959, Having lost to Pennsylvania and, just the previous Saturday, to Harvard, Princeton's football team was about to play Yale in Paley Stadium five years ago.

TOWN TOPICS—Question of the Week was: "Who do you think will win the Princeton-Yale game and by what score?"

Of those who answered, seven picked Yale, six picked Princeton, one said, "Toss-up." The seven who named Yale turned out to be correct, but no one came close to predicting by how much: 38-20 for the Elis was the Tiger-numbing final.

The post of Mercer County Coroner, vacant since 1938, had been filled by the preceding week's elections in 1959 when two Princeton residents and a Trentonian drew more votes than anyone else. Zygmunt Zegarski, Trenton bartender, got one vote—presumably from one of his better customers. And Walter Murphy, 48 Murray Place, also got one.

Melvin Truim, 110 Prospect, University sociologist, got 30. He had campaigned for the somewhat grisly honor because he felt that a public office sufficiently important to appear on the ballot was important enough to be sought by candidates.

A new school was on the drawing boards in the Township. William L. Wilton, president of the Township board of education in 1959 (and, of course, Mayor Wilson in 1964), presented the plans. The result: the handsome Community Park School on Witherspoon Street.

TEN YEARS AGO

November 11, 1951. In a letter to "The Reporter" magazine, Princeton resident Dr. Albert Einstein had signed a somewhat notable American intellectual life—and his own. The world's best known scientist had written:

"You have asked me what I think about your article concerning the situation of the scientist in America. If I would be a young man again and had to decide how to make my living, I would not try to become a scientist, scholar or a teacher.

"I would rather choose to be a plumber or a peddler in the hope to find that a modest degree of independence is still available under present circumstances."

Six days after one of the strangest elections in the State's history, Clifford P. Case, Republican candidate for U. S. Senator, had claimed victory in 1941. At that point, the official tabulations gave him a margin of 3,426 votes over his Democratic opponent, Congressman Charles H. Howell of Pennsylvania.

The figure was in shapely contrast to Mr. Howell's advantage of some 92,000 votes half an hour before midnight on Election Day ten years ago. Mr. Howell had himself issued a victory statement on the basis of early returns which were later more than offset by hand tabulated ballots from predominantly Republican counties.

Hottest football unit in Princeton ten years ago was the University's 150 lb. team coached by Dick Vanecko. It was 4 and 0 for the season so far and had run up 140 points while yielding only 11 in its last two games, against unbeaten Rutgers and defending champion Navy, the 150's also were to come out on top in 1944 and thereby capture the league championship.

FIFTEEN YEARS AGO

November 10, 1944. Princeton and New Jersey had made news at both the local and national levels on Election Day, 1944. Locally, four Republican had achieved a clean sweep of all contests in both Borough and Township, with the last ballot not tabulated until 3:50 a.m.

Nationally, the State had shown its opposition to the so-called "Fair Deal" by re-electing Republican Governor Alfred E. Driscoll, had been the first state in the nation to reject a veterans' bonus and had voted down a $100 million proposal for State-subsidized housing.

Over at Rutgers there had been frequent complaints by listeners that "low-flying airplanes were buzzing the field" and thereby interfering with radio reception of football games. Investigation showed that the sound came from a wasp's nest in the announcer's booth.

Borough Hall on the Ball.

To the Editor of Town Topics:
This is an open letter of thanks to the Honorable Mayor Patterson, to thank him for having lights installed and trees trimmed on Spruce Street.

I had written a letter to the Mayor telling him how dark it was on Spruce Street between Maple Street and Linden Lane. I asked if it was possible to have a light installed and the trees trimmed.

The Mayor took action on my letter and took care of the problem. I wrote a letter thanking the Mayor and he in turn took time out from his busy schedule to answer me. The Mayor wrote that he appreciated my letter of thanks and he was glad that I brought the lighting problem to his attention.

This proves to me that we have a good government in Princeton and a Mayor who is interested in the citizens and their problems. It further proves to me that it pays to call our various problems to the attention of our competent local officials.

Crime Proposal Questioned.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

TOWN TOPICS' recent (12 November) article on the increase of crime in Princeton revealed plans on the part of Township officials and police which are deeply disturbing.

The criminal registration ordinance proposed by Mayor Wilson and Mr. Nini is based on the assumption that a man who has committed a crime is, henceforth, a criminal. It denies the possibility of reform and rehabilitation and seems designed to isolate into a caste the "undesirable elements" of society. It might or might not succeed, pragmatically and statistically, in reducing the crime rate; it would certainly constitute harassment of all those who had ever broken a law.

No less disturbing are the statements of Police Chiefs McCrohan ("The tendency of the courts... gives crooks the best set-up in the world.") and Campbell "... courts lean over backwards to protect the rights of the accused, and sometimes you wonder about the rights of citizens.")

Both these statements are based on the notion of a "criminal defendant" and are inimical to the noblest element in American justice: the principle that all men are assumed innocent until proven guilty—of each particular offense.

I hope that Princeton's understandable concern with a rising incidence of robberies will not lead to precipitate and anti-democratic local legislation.

ELLEN C. ROSE

(Mrs. Remington Rose)

47 Southern Way

Editors note: In describing the proposed ordinance—which has not yet been drafted—Mayor Wilson acknowledged that problems of civil and personal rights would have to be given considerable thought.)

Pool Is "Sidetracked."

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The question of the Community Park swimming pool, raised by the Princeton Association for Human Rights on Nov. 10 and reported by TOWN TOPICS of Borough Council's discussion of the proposed swimming pool is a conspicuous, through unlabelled, editorial. It defends what has emerged with post-election clarity as the local government policy of all deliberate delay.

TOWN TOPICS' theme (un-attributed even in direct discourse, hence an unmistakable editorial statement) is that the pool is not being sidetracked.
This raises a host of incidental questions about what local government has been doing until now to explore a community need felt — and expressed — over several decades.

But much more journalistically disturbing is TOWN TOPICS' reportorial selectivity. You may cry foul at a comparison between your coverage and that in the Wednesday, November 11, Trenton because you are apparently able to allot less than half the space than that available in the Times for a report on Princeton's swimming pool.

Among several other pertinent points reported in the Times and unreported in TOWN TOPICS is, however, that of tennis courts. Mr.

The main obstacle is the same as it has been in the past: the lack of a decision by the governing bodies to build a pool. Whether it takes three months or eight months to build a pool, the process will not start until the governing bodies make that decision.

Thus the real issues are:
Should the money already available or proposed for Community Park be used for the pool or for some other purpose? When will the governing bodies decide to build the pool?

Your report states that
"This does not mean the project is being sidetracked." May I remind you that there has been no commitment to provide the pool at any foreseeable date in the future. The pool is in fact "sidetracked."

David Hagood of PAIR commented upon the ten tennis courts in the 1965 budget. Councilman Joseph Wood indicated that a pool would have low priority because its season of use is shorter than that of baseball diamond or tennis courts.

There would seem to be some sidetracking here — helped by a friendly and elliptical push on the part of TOWN TOPICS.

GARRISON ELLIS

49 Wilton St.

Editor's note: Township officials have never given a precise date for construction of a swimming pool or, indeed, for any Community Park facilities. They have stated that they were waiting for a recreation director and a Joint Recreation Commission. They now have both, so presumably a priority list will now be drawn up and definite plans made.

Mr. Ellis, who wrote publicity for the Democratic candidates in the recent campaign, apparently read TOWN TOPICS' report of the Council meeting through his own glasses. The report quoted Mayor Henry Patterson directly: "It would be possible to dig a hole and put in some kind of pool by next summer, but not if we want the right kind of pool setup for Princeton, and we do."

Police Courtesy Appreciated.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

The courtesy and understanding I received from one of the members of the Princeton Police Force the other evening during a heavy rain storm makes them worthy of the name "Princeton's Finest."

It is really quite heartening to find that there are still some very nice, understanding people still left in this world — the only thing is to find them.

Open Space Policy Stated.

To the Editor of Town Topics:

In view of the apparent lack of understanding on the part of some interested citizens of the fundamental principles of the Township Open Space Commission, we would like to restate them.

The only reason for the existence of this Commission is to recommend the orderly acquisition of public land for the Princeton community. In order to do this, the Commission after its appointment by the Township Committee in 1962, surveyed the Township and recommended to the Planning Board some key tracts of land in different areas for inclusion in the Master Plan.

The basic objective was to save this land for recreational, aesthetic or conservation purposes. In locations where public facilities or private lands where public use is permitted where available this fact was taken into consideration. Every person or institution whose land was put on the Master Plan had been contacted ahead of time. They were informed that the purpose was to give the Township one year, as provided by State law, in which to acquire the land, at its fair value, only if and when it came on the market.

Public hearings were held so that any objections to the inclusion of a particular tract could be received. It was obviously impossible to foresee the timetable by which certain properties would become available. Care was taken also not to concentrate excessive acreage in any one area.

The Open Space Commission will consider any land brought to its attention for possible inclusion in the Master Plan. Its interest is, of course, primarily in land as distinguished from buildings.

The Open Space Commission welcomes interested citizens to its meetings to discuss their ideas and suggestions. The meeting are held on the fourth Tuesday of each month at 8:15. The meeting place is temporarily the auditorium of the Valley Road School.

BARBARA SMOYER

(Mrs. Stanley C. Smoyer)
For The Open Space Commission.

It will not abrogate contracts nor should it be expected to recommend the acquisition of every lovely home and estate which comes upon the market. Priorities have been established for the lands which, in the eyes of the Commission, will make best use of the limited funds available for this purpose.

Facts You Should Know About Oriental Rugs
HAMADAN RUGS
 Bihicabads invariably employ the famed "Herati" or "fish" design. An extremely sturdy rug, they are woven in rose-rust, beige and blue grounds. The "contract" section of the area boasts of 100 looms, manned by meticulous weavers. The Bihicabad may be found in medallion center and all-over design.
 Bijar rugs are remarkably durable. Bijar is one of the thickest and most compact of Oriental rugs and is commonly designated the "iron rug". Designs are usually strong although it is possible to obtain the delicate "Herati" in Bijars.
 Enjillas rugs are woven by a proud and independent community. The two predominant colors are red and ivory and the two main designs are the Boteh Miri and the Herati. A fine weave and extremely durable.
 Borchalon utilizes the curvilinear design and the Herati. A good area rug it combines many shades of the rainbow with peak effect.

Question of the Week

Question: What is your opinion of the new style, textured stockings?

Where asked: Nassau Street.
 Mrs. Mildred McKallen, 68 Wheatstap Lane, clerk at Landau's, 114 Nassau Street: I like them. They're just something different. You get tired looking at the same old thing. I think you're going to see a lot more of them. Actually, we've been having requests for them for two years now, mostly from visitors from foreign countries where they have been wearing them for years.

Miss Janet Melidick, Trenton, secretary for SDB, 15 Chambers Street: They're okay if you have a nice pair of legs; if you don't you're licked. They draw too much attention to the legs.
 Sherry Newman, Westminster Choir College sophomore: I don't like them. To begin with you can't see your legs when you wear them. They're old-fashioned . . . and old lady-ish.

Mrs. Harriett Stanton, 218 King Street, waitress for Annex: I think they're terrible. I don't think they blend well with clothes. A lot of women are wearing them just because it's something new. I prefer the plain, sheer kind.

Mrs. Rodger Parry, Cranbury Station, school teacher: I think they're pretty wild myself, but if the occasion presented itself, I believe I would probably try a pair. I think the wild ones are too wild. A person would have to be the "style type" to wear them. A lot depends on the individual and the occasion.

Mrs. M. Manosevitz, New Brunswick, designer: I think my dress will reveal my opinion. I think they're fashionable—and flattering. (Mrs. Manosevitz was wearing a striking red and green pair of textured stockings.)

Nancy Chalverus, Carson Road, high school sophomore: I think they're pretty racy. I don't think I'd buy them. Maybe if I were older.

Mrs. Frederick G. Poinsett, Jr., Trenton, housewife: I like the ones that are toned down, the more conservative kind; not the wild, gaudy ones with the big prints or the ones with absolutely huge medallions—they're too much! I think they should be worn only with tailored clothes perfectly plain because the stockings are enough.

Mrs. Marie Forman, Plainsboro, housewife: I think they're terrible. The regular kind of stockings make your legs look much more attractive.

Mrs. Michelle P. Hawks, 43 Park Place, legal secretary: I don't like them at all. With women who have large legs I think it makes their legs look even fatter. They should minimize their legs and accentuate something else. And if you do have nice legs, I think nylon stockings do a little bit more for you.

Mrs. Fowler Merle - Smith, Pretty Brook Road, housewife: I didn't think I'd like them but . . . they're warm and they don't run. But I wouldn't wear them in the evening, ever. They're too kooky — they're more for casual wear. I asked my husband, well what do you think, and he said, "Well, they're all right to wear around town." (Mrs. Merle-Smith was wearing green textured stockings).

 John Kausner, Hopewell, plumbing instructor for American Standard: They don't particularly appeal to me. They give sort of a reptilian look to women's legs. They're definitely attention getters. I wouldn't be too happy to see my wife wearing them.
 Pat Wheeler, 429 Burd Street, Pennington freshman, Central High School: I love them because they're different. Some girls like them, some don't. (Pat was wearing black-patterned stockings).
 Alexander Jones, Metuchen, computer programmer for Princeton University: I dislike them. They seem rather unnatural and rather unpleasant.
 Mrs. Virginia McCur, New Brunswick, secretary at Forestal Research Center: I don't like them. I think they're more for young girls, for high school and college students, for the sporting type, but not for mature women. They're very noticeable; the eye is attracted to them right away.
 Michael Leffand, 283 Heriontown Road, graduate student, psychology: I think they do an injustice ladies' legs. I don't like them.

 J.B. Klutznick, 1903 Hall, Princeton University senior: They're all right for Broadway and the city but not for small town and rural wear. They're perfect for dressing up or for something exotic. They're also good for a nice pair of legs but they look hideous on bad legs.
 Mrs. Marylou Solovay, 45 Einstein Drive, housewife: I don't wear them (I'm a suburban mother) but I like them: I think they're very sexy.
 Thomas O'Brien, Trenton, carpenter: I like them — it's something different. They're better than crazy hairdos.
 Arlene Panicareo, 33 Wilton Street, PIHS junior: Some kids don't like them but I do so I wear them. I like them because they're different. I wear them a lot.

Deal Me In

Friendly little game? Happy to deal you in. Park Lane asks an ante of $697 for a gaming table in Oriental pecan with carved drum base and four tub chairs upholstered in tortoise shell leather. Can also be used for afternoon tea if you don't care for night baseball.

A hexagonal Bourbon Barrel Poker Table (we're still whooping it up at Park Lane) has four matching swivel chairs. The table has a felt-covered center and wooden section with slots for chips and drinks and so on, around the edges (holes for aces?). The whole thing can be reversed to a sober-sided solid wood top and used for formal dining on copper-plated and liverwurst. $498, which is a lot of blue chips.

High-low? Not the game, silly: the table. It's 18 inches tall but can be swiveled up like a piano stool to a height of 29 inches. Use it for coffee, dining or Kansas City Killy. It's pecan wood, at Park Lane.

We've described earlier the game table at Viking with four chairs back-to-back—well, not quite: they are backed against the table so that you straddle them in order to play.

Most of these tables have four chairs only, but if you've really got a full house, you may want Furniture Barn's Colonial table, round and smooth, with six matching chairs (for $330, you get table and chairs and a hutch to keep the chips in.)

in white or pastel, quilted cottons or quilted nylon finished on both sides, all for rubes for everybody in the family. For grandfather, there's a bright red orlon-rayon washable fabric, or a plaid in the same substance, if he prefers.

Hand-made Christmas decorations for yourself or your friends, might begin with those door knob covers at The Knitting Shop. You sew sequins and streamers to felt, and slip-cover the door knob against the winter blasts. Well, so they say, felt napkin rings, decorative angels with mu-hair, and switchplate covers made like snowmen, Santas or choir-boys—all of these can be made in plenty of time for Christmas decorating.

The Fabric Shop has felt "squares" 8x12 inches, available in every color on the Christmas tree, and 72-inch felt for table-cloths and real Christmas productions.

A PLUG FOR CHRISTMAS

Wash, Dry, Listen. If you thought Van Zandt was lyrical about the snow-blower, you should hear them about the Philco '65 washing machine. It is a four-speed, four-cycle job, uses less water than any machine on the market and has a two-year guarantee.

Its inner mechanism has solved the problem of off-balance loads. It has "blades of water" (gee whiz!) to wash all those dungarees and color key controls to wash every fabric just right. Its mate, the dryer, has "criss cross tumbling," a moisture measure which is automatic, and an ozone lamp to make your clothes smell like sunshine.

Westinghouse, in the person of Bob Lang, Princeton Shopping Center, has Christmas in mind, too. Here the special is a heavy-duty washing machine that holds 15 pounds of clothes, if you can believe it. However, you can adjust the machine to small or medium-sized loads, which saves on water, and you can adjust for boys' clothing.

parts or your or your own nylon lingerie.

On the other side of the kitchen, we find a new refrigerator, all tied in red Christmas ribbon. It's Bob Lang's Admiral Duplex 10 for $480, with self-defrosting freezer and refrigerator. It's got 18.8 cubic feet, but because it walls are thin, it can fit into a 36-inch space. You can have it in aqua, yellow, copper or white and once you buy it, you'll just have to re-do the whole kitchen.

A smaller, narrower Admiral is only 28 feet wide with freezing compartment below and lots of colors to choose from. Capacity is 16 cubic feet.

Did you see the Amana freezers at Bob Lang's? You could get a whole deer into one and not have so much as an antler sticking out. We like the wood-grain finish. Freezer, not deer.

Lights! Music! Leaving the kitchen (it's always there when you go back), we search out the music room which isn't hard because you can hear that stereo all over the house. This particular one is portable, which may account for its pervasiveness. The Music Center on Palmer Square has KLIH's Model 11 portable stereo phonograph (28 lbs.) which is the first portable small enough to be hand-carried, with a really serious performance musically.

They will tell you on Palmer Square that it provides enough sound for a ballroom full of people, or "it can bring 'Swan Lake' from behind the living-room curtains." (We looked and it wasn't there.) It's a new speaker that does all this. Specifies: Garrard AT-6 4-speed changer, Pickering 380C magnetic pick-up, two-speaker systems, 40 feet of cable and 15-watt transistor amplifier with five-year guarantee. If "wow" weren't a naughty word among hi-faddists, we'd say "Wow!" Costs $199. Furniture makes $209 and $259.

Magnavox "Penthouse" is the favorite at Bob Lang. This $139.95 model is AM-FM radio with two speakers: a neat and elegant pair of dark green pieces—handsome in an executive's office. Pressure control is constant in a $198 Magnavox just right to set in a bookcase.

Fisher, of course, is the old, old friend at the University Store, where furniture styles can ascend to $900, depending on the space in your home and your wallet. What about a coffee-table style for $349?

The Music Center, by the way, takes a certain wicked pleasure in watching customers put things together themselves. "Diyakits" are high-fidelity components you spread out on your own living room floor, putting everything together step by step by step (are there more?) following instructions, pictorial diagrams, photographs and the signs of the Zodiac. There are Scott kits, too.

LIVING COLOR?

TV to Match. If you didn't buy color TV last year, why not now? University Store has RCA for $469 "on up," Van Zandt has Philco from $389

FOLK SONGS BY PETE SEEGER

W-2172

Folk buffs know that the undisputed leader of the ethnic folk world is Pete Seeger. This LP captures the authentic sound of Pete Seeger's haunting, troubled voice, his long-necked banjo and 12-string guitar, as he delivers This Train, TB Blues, Red River Valley, John Henry and other great folk songs.

THE 3D's

ST-2171

An original idea so exciting and unique that you'll wonder why no one thought of it before...using the world's best loved poems as a source, this unusual group has appeared and is appearing now on college campuses all across the country. Includes: Jabberwocky, The Highwaymen and other standard poems set to music.

ONE STEP MORE

THE GOODTIME SINGERS

ST-2170

Here, that fun-filled folk group of the nine youngsters that star on the Andy Williams Show — The Goodtime Singers — have taken the best sounds from folk and country music, plus the best of rock and roll and bluegrass rhythm and created something called, "Folkably Rockgrass."

These fine new campus folk favorites are being featured now. So be sure you see them today. Come in and ask for the great new CAMPUS FOLK FAVORITES from the Sound 'Capitol' of the World.

For a Princess

A Bejar rug, beautiful and rare enough for a princess in a palace, is just about the most opulent thing you can buy this Christmas.

It's part of the Bahadurian collection of Oriental rugs, all absolutely authentic Persian hand-mades. This particular rug is 12 by 22 feet, and is about 75 years old. In perfect condition, its colors still luminous, it's available in time for Christmas, at $2,075. We can't imagine anything finer to go under your Christmas tree.

and Bob Lang has all kinds, in the same price range.

Both University Store and Bob Lang like the "theatre" idea, with TV, radio and phonograph all packaged into one ticket. At Bob Lang, the Magnavox Theatre has a stereo-phonograph, a 21-inch television screen and an AM-FM radio completely solid-state, for $995, which is about as solid state as you can get. Besides Magnavox, this store carries Zenith, Motorola, Admiral and RCA television.

At the U Store, they love this four-pound Sony with its four-inch screen, the screen that throws all the way back to those first little television screens, remember? It runs on a regular flashlight battery or current, and it's nice and portable like something out of Dick Tracy. Plug an earphone in, and listen quietly and all alone.

Now, we turn to the youngsters, with something to keep them away from the $995 "theatre." This is General Electric's "Show and Tell," designed for children about seven years of age.

It's a complete phonograph with TV front. You buy records with a co-ordinating film strip, and lo! the machine produces a "live" TV show. Records in stock, from Picturesound Program Libraries, cover subjects like science and space, history, fairy tales — you know. Costs $29.95 and puts you in the programming seat.

Before we leave hi-fi completely, we'd like to tell you about Furniture Barn's Nordo free-standing units with hi-fi cabinets, desks, chests and so on. Nordo combines wood finish with bright primary colors to give you sharp Chinese red drawers, lemon door-fronts or a royal blue drop leaf.

Using the various shelves, cupboards and units in this free-standing collection, you can make more than 2,000 combinations, and think of how many rooms THAT would divide! Furniture Barn says the pieces assemble without nuts, bolts or tools. You'll like those bright colors!

ANTIQUED FOR MODERNS

What to use for Storage. For people with other ideas about storage, some furniture stores this year have delightful painted pieces with antiqued finish. We're thinking particularly of the cupboard at Schwartz Furniture in New Brunswick with its antiqued grey-blue finish and ivory back, the shuttered doors at the top and a bank of little drawers, apothecary style, with shiny white knobs. (A similar one comes in maple.)

In fact, those shiny little white druggist's knobs appear frequently this year. Schwartz has them again on a hanging wall cupboard just big enough to hold bits of string.

Ivy Manor, in the Princeton Shopping Center, has an antiqued green cupboard only 32 inches wide, with a cherry top, and those shiny little white knobs looking like 16 square drawers but it's only four, because each drawer has four knobs.

Rug Mart's teal green corner cupboard, capacious enough to hold the turkey platter all summer long, comes from Pennsylvania House with white knobs sharp against its dark green ground. The inter-

It's New To Us

one of the cupboard is antiqued white.
Pennsylvania House is an old family friend of the Schwartz Company. The solid-burgher breakfronts at Schwartz would cover almost a whole farmhouse kitchen all.
Here's an antiqued white dry sink, full length, and big enough for all kinds of activity and storage. An oval dining table with Queen Anne legs stands in the same room with a dry sink lined with copper and finished off with leaded glass doors in front of the shelves.

The breakfront at Manning's is 72 inches long, which would break almost any front we can think of. It's Cremona cherry (a smoky color) with four glass doors, a sliding desk with leather-covered writing surface and a $1,083 price tag.
At Manning's you may choose Early American (the corner cupboard is distressed pine) or Queen Anne (the lowboy is Honduras mahogany in beautifully simple and classic design).

Any Europeans Coming? Dining at Ivy Manor is more the European fashion, with Henredon's "Documentary" group and its Neopollan style. The china cabinet has three glass doors in long, slim panels, and concentric squares in the three doors. Little side chairs to pull up to the oval table, have just enough ornamentation. Wood is light walnut.

Park Lane's Spanish credenza is pecan wood, 75 inches long, and needs an expansive background and expensive taste ($379). One credenza at Park Lane is fruit-wood, colored if you wish. We saw it in green with gold outlines.

Christmas desk? Solid pine makes Park Lane's secretary with its apothecary top. See what you think of the new "English Tavern" finish on one narrow (39 inch) secretary. Manning's Tidewater drop-leaf has boxwood inlays made in Yorktown Comes in walnut for $350, and you have to use a quill pen to write the check.

The study at Viking has a revolving bookcase with three square shelves, jealously peering at one another through square bars and flat slats. Stands about five feet high. You could keep curios on it, if you want to.

Drexel's curio cabinet at Park Lane is made just for that: It's pecan wood in that dark English Tavern finish, with amber glass and an interior light to give a sort of "pub" glow. Stands five feet three and is verve olde English. The Box Table is a cube in the Danish Provincial manner, with silk-screen decoration that looks just like inlay.

Box, Lock and Key

The fascination of a little wooden box, mysteriously compartmented and held shut with a tiny key, is a fascination as universal in 1964 Princeton as 19th-century Paris.

Four delicious French boxes, fashioned long ago by skilled cabinet-makers, are available for you this Christmas at the Princeton Decorating Shop on Palmer Square. Price range $55 to $125.

One — the $125 — is a foot-long jewel box with divided tray. Another is a cigar-box with pierced rack for 16 cigars and a well for — well, tobacco? The other two are long, narrow cigarette boxes with drop fronts. All are beautifully, but fastidiously, inlaid with good, or light woods that show against the dark mahogany.

It has one drawer and a drop-down door and is end-table height.

TAKE A CHAIR

We're At Home. Couches and chairs don't move much from year to year, but we saw one or two we think you'd like to know about. Ivy Manor has a slightly curving sofa, Italian Provincial and very formal, with four loose pillows at the back and four garceful little legs. We saw it in mustard gold. . . . Viking's 36-inch square ottoman rolls about on what must be ball bearings. The ottoman is bigger than the chair you sit into put your feet on it. If you sit what we mean. Chair is down, seat and back, and what comfort!

Rug Mart has both wing chair and couch in a crevel print, but they don't match; you choose either one or the other.

Schwartz' Pennsylvania-looking couch is long enough for four back cushions. (We found a loveseat quite big enough for three. Now we ask you.)

For your bedroom, start with a wall chest from Kopenhavn's wall planner group at Viking and buy a new unit every pay-day. Or start full-blown with Henredon's "Documentary" bedroom at Ivy Manor (to match your dining-room — remember?). It has the most fascinating armoire, with two shirt trays, shelves, doors on piano hinges, and a mysterious tall narrow space whose purpose you'll have to determine yourself.

UNDERFOOT

The Rug Is Down. For any floor — bedroom, diningroom or livingroom — Rug Mart suggests a Karastan Oriental, and these handsome rugs come in enough color combination to accommodate any decor. There are other rugs here, too, of course, besides Karastan.

We suggest you consider an ivory with traditional medallions in red and navy, or an even paler ivory with soft yet defined flower patterns in palest pastel. Wonderful in a boudoir.

A rug like an heirloom bedspread is cream against a dark ground that shows through. Another rug is gold-on-gold with thick fringe.

Rugs at Bahadurian are both new and old, but most of them are old, some even antique, like the Chinese one in cream. —Continued on Page 23

WHAT'S MOMMY DOING? Playing Hockey. Dear Princeton's least-publicized team is the Marquand Sparks, who have five victories and one defeat so far this season.

The Sparks are a high-galting group of women ages 21 to 50. They roam as far as Rumson and Morristown in search of a field hockey game. Each year they defeat all of the school-girl teams around. "Rumson is our chief rival."

Organized four seasons ago, chiefly by Mrs. Oakes Ames, the Sparks began hockey practice at Marquand Park in mid-September, and they'll be out there playing as long as the weather holds out.

"We're crazy about hockey," they say, "and our husbands are pretty patient about it."

Where's the Whistle? Eighteen of the 25 women who have signed up with the Sparks turned out for practice at Marquand Park the other morning.

"This whole thing is pretty casual," Mrs. Ames said as she hunted for the whistle. Somebody remembered pulling it in the mail box after Tuesday's practice.

While the search was on,

HOUSEWIVES ON THE RUN: The Marquand Sparks bring women from as far as Hopewell and Kendall Park to practice hockey on Tuesday and Friday mornings. Their pre-school children get parked along the sidelines. Story, this page.

players put on their shinguards and settled their children with toys along the sidelines. The older children were safely tucked away in school. When the whistle turned up in a player's pocket, practice began in earnest.

"Anybody who wants to play hockey is welcome," Mrs. Ames said as she settled on the sideline. "At first a lot of our players were squash players."

"Now we have some faculty wives, some graduate students' wives. Two athletic teachers from Miss Fine's come out sometimes to play. There's an English girl, a Canadian and an Australian on the team."

As the players practiced with the forward line rushing the goal, their children scattered onto the baseball diamond, playing chase.

According to Mrs. Ames, the Sparks all played hockey in high school or college. Some had been away from the sport for as long as 15 years when Mrs. Ames first sounded the rallying cry.

Some Equipment Borrowed. They borrowed equipment from Miss Fine's School. "But quite a few of us still had sticks left over from high school days." They'd collect 25 cents in a jar each time they were on the field. Now the regulars pay $3 dues.

"We need the money for referees. We're lucky the field is free," Mrs. Ames went on.

A player suddenly raced off the field towards the baseball diamond and retrieved a screaming child who had climbed up the catcher's cage and couldn't climb down. "This goes on all the time," Mrs. Ames commented with a laugh. "People park their baby carriages here and play with us. One girl was here when her child was only a few weeks old!"

The Regulars. Some of the "steadies" are Mrs. John Bernard, Mrs. John Clayburn, Mrs. Fink, Fischer, Mrs. James Graves, Mrs. Hallett Johnson, Mrs. Karl Light, Mrs. Michael Ramus, Miss Sissi Reeves, Mrs. Murray McAndrew, Mrs. Lucius Wilhelms, Mrs. Newell Woodworth, Mrs. James Lillie, Mrs. Anthony Stefanello, Mrs. Maitland Jones, Doreen Green, Mrs. Robert Weiss, Mrs. Norman Wood and Mrs. EBH de Berio.

When practice ended just before lunch, the Sparks gathered briefly around the bench. "I can be here Friday, but not Tuesday." Somebody gathered the balls. A hockey stick slipped onto a surprised child's head. Then, the mothers and children began to straggle off.

They all said it was wonderful to be playing hockey again. Although, as Mrs. Pepper Constable put it, "That's an awful long field when you've been off it for a while!" Only two players are out with charley horses this season. The weather, they agreed, was perfect for hockey.

An old hockey player never quits.

BIRTHS

Thirteen Born. Ten girls and three boys were born last week at Princeton Hospital.

Daughters were born to Mr. and Mrs. Peter Tinsley, 406-C Devereux Avenue, Princeton, and Dr. and Mrs. Henry Shoemaker, 78 Fairway Drive, both on November 8; Mr. and Mrs. John H. Collins, 156 Alexander Street, and Mr. and Mrs. Donald Malloy, 2687 Main Street, Lawrenceville, and Mr. and Mrs. Michael Anderbert, Millstone River Apartments, all on November 9; Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Bennett, 4 Fernwood Lane, Jamesburg, November 10; Rev. and Mrs. H. Dana Fearon, 2688 Main Street, Lawrenceville, November 11; and Mr. and Mrs. Richard W. Angenbaugh, 232 Sunset Avenue, Hightstown; Mr. and Mrs. Charles W. Gregory, 40 Southern Way, and Mr. and Mrs. John Serra, 31 Durant Avenue, all on November 13.

Sons were born to Mr. and Mrs. Richard Richey, Mill Road, Princeton Junction, November 10; Mr. and Mrs. George P. Neal, 100 Stockton Street, November 13; and Mr. and Mrs. Conrad O. Gardner, 101 Lynwood Drive, November 14.

The board delayed decision on the low bids for the general contract, structural steel and plumbing contracts, setting December 15 as its deadline.

The board will advertise for new bids to replace those rejected. Revised plans and specifications by the architect, Ernest Kump Associates, were prepared Thursday, subject to the statutory approval by the State Board of Education.

OPEN HOUSE SET

For Cornell Alumni. The Cornell Clubs of Princeton and Trenton will co-sponsor an open house at the Princeton Inn before the Cornell-Princeton game this Saturday. Doors open at 11:30 a.m.

After the game, a cocktail party and buffet dinner are planned for 6:30 p.m.

LIONS PLAN PARTY

For NJNPI Children. The 15th annual Princeton Lions Club's party for the youngsters at the N.J. Neuro-Psychiatric Institute will be held at 7 p.m., Tuesday, November 24, at the Nassau Inn. Richard Henkel is chairman.

Plans include entertainment by Mary and Paul Ritts, TV puppeteers, and the Widman Trio.

TWO EVENTS PLANNED

By Plainshoro PTA. Dr. Mills Cowles of Rutgers University will discuss "Reading—The Responsibility of Parents" at a meeting of the Plainshoro PTA at 8 p.m., Wednesday, December 2.

A square dance is planned for Saturday, December 5, at 8 p.m. in the school's all-purpose room. John Keiser will be caller. A teen-hop, under the direction of Bill Weeks, is scheduled for the same evening in the school cafeteria.

NEW TENANTS

Changes in Lower Pine. The half-timbered structure on the northeast corner of Nassau and Witherspoon Streets has acquired three new tenants to fill its recent street-floor vacancies. The Suburban Transit Corp. of New Brunswick will take over the space formerly used by Western Union.

The new transportation offices will be just across Nassau Street from the new locations of east and westbound bus stops being established by the Borough. Buses for New York will now stop in front of the First National Bank instead of Palmer Square, and buses for New York will stop opposite the head of Witherspoon Street at the FitzRandolph Gateway to the University front campus.

There will be a ticket office and waiting room which will be open at least 15 hours daily. The company offers transportation to New York on an every half hour basis seven days a week.

Nassau Liquors will move from its present address at 108 Nassau into 94 Nassau on November 30 to replace the previous tenants, W. B. Howe Inc. And a new business, Donna's of Princeton, specializing in women's and children's wear, will occupy 96 Nassau, previous home of The Cummins Shop. Occupancy is scheduled for January 1.

'CALLING PRN. OVER'
Thorne's Uses Short Wave.
For a number of months, The Thorne Pharmacy has been speeding delivery to its customers via "PRN" (the nickname for its vehicle, "PRN" stands for "Pro Re Nata," pharmacological term meaning "Use As Needed.") As a further service, Thorne's has now established two-way communication between its Nassau Street store and "PRN" with "King Baker John 0606," its own short-wave system.

Now in operation for slightly over a week, KBJ 0606 has already established its value in a number of ways, says E. Everett Campbell who, with Paul A. Ashton, is proprietor of The Thorne Pharmacy. By way of illustration:

Last week, "PRN" was on its way to make a drug delivery to a customer not far from Lawrenceville. A prescription was phoned in for a child in Kingston who was suffering from acute asthmatic attack.

Simply by calling "PRN" on the radio intercom, Thorne's had the truck come back to the store before proceeding to its next stop, on the Princeton - Kingston Road. The result: minutes were saved in dispatching the asthma alleviant to the ailing child in Kingston.

As Investments Director.
Richard L. Stoddard, 141 Westcott Road, has been named Director of the New Jersey Division of Investments, succeeding the late William F. Voorhees.

New Jersey's Investments Division administers more than $13 billion in state funds, invested to earn about $50 million annually.

For several years, Mr. Stoddard was an executive with Johnson & Johnson, leaving to join the New York firm of Sullivan and Company in 1955. Last year, he formed his own investment advisory service and has maintained offices in 20 Nassau Street.

SPORTS In Princeton

THE GOAL: 9 FOR 9

Tigers Aim to Stay Unbeaten. When the 1964 football schedule was first released, showing Cornell as the final opponent, there was a tendency to regret the fact that the long and often highly dramatic rivalry with Dartmouth as the season's finale had come to a temporary end.

Now, Princeton is not only the Ivy League champion but has in its sights its first unbeaten season since 1951. A crowd of 30,000 is expected for the contest, which will be televised on Saturday throughout the east from Palmer Stadium over Channels 3 and 4 beginning at 1:15.

Cornell is no better than 3-4-1 on the season and 3-3 in the Ivy League but it is, on the other hand, a far better team than anyone thought it would be in the year following Gary Wood's switch from the Ivy League to the New York Giants. The Ithacans started slowly, playing a 9-9 tie with Buffalo and then losing three of their four games as they were defeated by Colgate, Harvard and Yale while whipping luckless Penn.

Since then, they have trounced Columbia and Dartmouth but have remained inconsistent by falling to Brown. The secret of their periodic success is good line play; their difficulty—as it has been at Cornell—is as it has been at Cornell and here both Tom Harp and his predecessor, Lefty James—is defensive weakness.

Junior Marty Sponaugle and sophomore Bill Abel alternate at quarterback in running the Ithacans' offense, with Abel having possibly the greater potential of the two. Bob Baker, veteran halfback, and Bill Wilson, a 200-lb fullback who played jayvee football as a sophomore, provide the best running.

Up front, the Red has a good line for both its offensive and defensive platoons—"second best in the league on defense," Princeton scouts report. Cornell has been tough to run against—Yale beat it on passing and field goals, and Brown

QUICK LOOK AT CORNELL
OFFENSE: Good balance, with edge to running game. Halfbacks Bob Baker and Bill Wilson top threats.

DEFENSE: Only fair, despite some capable linemen. Unlikely to stop single wing, which always plagues Ithacans.

CHIEF ASSET: Ability to score. Team has averaged 34 points in last four Ivy games.

CHIEF PROBLEM: Defensive difficulties. Scored 21 points against Yale and 28 against Brown but lost both games.

TYPE OF ATTACK: Wing-T with balanced line.

on passing, so that Princeton will require something of a passing touch to keep the defense honest.

Tiger Victory Likely. Given the same good weather conditions that have blessed the 1964 season, Princeton is unlikely to be upset Saturday in its drive for an unbeaten season. The Tigers go into the contest with a fine blend of offensive and defensive ability and an understanding faith in themselves. As much as anything else, the latter bailed them out of potential trouble in the Yale Bowl Saturday—first when they trailed early in the game and second when they left the field at half-time with no better than a tie against an opponent with numerous great second half finishes to its credit.

The combination of Cosmo Iacavazzi's speed and power to both the inside and around the flanks, blended with the twin tailback threat posed by Don McKay and Ron Landeck, is more than Cornell is likely to be able to contain. The passing is, if nothing more, adequate; it played a valuable part in three of the five touchdown drives against Yale, accounting for the go-ahead TD when McKay flipped a three-yard running pitch to quarterback Roy Pizzarello.

Defensively, despite the two touchdowns yielded to Yale, Princeton remains considerably more than Cornell—or any other team in the league—can handle. The Tigers proved that by the way they shut down completely on the Elis in the second half—cutting the Bulldogs' total offense from 187 in the first two periods to 86, and its points from 14 to 0.

Just as in the Yale game, which loomed as a close contest, the Tigers could win their last one big. They have been under considerable psychological pressure in the last month, and the possibility of a let-down and narrow upset is always there. Such a development is, however, distinctly unlikely; this eager, opportunistic Princeton team figures to wrap up its unbeaten season with a good deal to spare.

TIGERS FORCED BREAKS. And Then Used Them. It is a rare occasion when a team makes a mistake work for it, but Princeton did just that to create the turning point Saturday in its 35-14 triumph over Yale in the Bowl.

Iacavazzi Is Off on Record-Busting Spree

Cosmo Iacavazzi, Princeton's all-American fullback, already holds the Princeton and Ivy League career records for most touchdowns scored with 30 and 27, respectively; the Ivy career record for points scored with 162; and is tied with Hobey Baker '12 for total Princeton points at 180.

On Saturday, in the final game of his career against Cornell, three others are within reach. This is the story:

● If Iacavazzi, with 813 yards rushing to his credit this season, add 49 more, he will break Dick Kazmaier's one-season record of 861.

● With a three-year mark of 1799 to his credit, he needs 152 more to break Kazmaier's record of 1950.

● In Ivy action, with 714 to his credit this season, he needs 73 more to break the one-season mark of 813 held by Gary Wood of Cornell.

The 185 yards he gained against Yale last week constitute a single game Ivy record for a Princeton player. The old mark was set last year against Cornell by Hugh MacMillan.

WE Congratulate

DON ROTH
Defensive Specialist

Thirty years ago, upwards of a dozen Princeton athletes were members of three different teams a year. Today, the combination of more rigorous competition and greatly increased academic pressure has made the three-sport man a rarity: the only one at Princeton today is senior Don Roth, who has helped the Tigers win Ivy titles in football, basketball and lacrosse.

Defense is his specialty—so much so that he formed what amounted to a one-man defensive platoon for his first two seasons in football before this year's return to virtually unlimited substitutions. As a sophomore and junior, he was a defensive quarterback, serving as linebacker to keep the signal-caller fresh for operating the attacking unit. This year, he's a little deeper, playing the position the pros call cornerback.

Don broke into the starting lineup on Bill Van Breda Kolff's first Ivy League champions in his first shot at the varsity, and earned a starting berth again last winter despite missing the first month of practice because of the drawn-out football season. Like a number of good lacrosse players at Princeton, he never played the sport before entering college but Ferris Thomsen used his quick reflexes and defensive know-how to make a starter out of him.

Sure-fire tackling and quick diagnosis of enemy aerials are the hall-mark of Roth's defensive play on the Ivy football champions. Pressbox watchers at Saturday's Yale game feel he had the Elis' touchdown pass intercepted cold save for the fact that it was deflected past him by a Tiger lineman into the hands of the Blue receiver in the end zone.

Despite the fact that it yielded 14 points to Yale Saturday, Princeton still leads the nation's major teams in points allowed with a fine 5.1 average per game. As the Tigers seek to wrap up their first unbeaten season in 13 years, Roth's defensive skill in the secondary is sure to contribute to anticipated success.

Sports In Princeton

With the score still tied at 14 all in the third quarter, Yale had a punt called back and was awarded a first down in Princeton territory because the Tigers had 12 men on the field. A back for whom a substitution had been made was still running off the field when the Eli center snapped the ball to his kicker.

Apparently totally unperurbed by this oversight, Princeton not only contained the Blue to force another punt but promptly blocked it in the bargain. When tackle Wendall Cady recovered the ball after it bounced off his chest to the Yale 42, the Tigers rolled the distance in six plays and that, as matters turned out, was the ball game right there.

Fumble Sets Up Another TD.

To provide welcome insurance, Princeton forced another in-ruck early in the final period. Eli halfback Rich Nisben fumbled when Stan Maliszewski jarred him with a rugged tackle and Paul Sawidge, the other half of this tremendous defensive duo, was right on hand to recover.

On the very next play, Lacavazzi ran out of the tailback position, faked at the line and shot around the left flank. He bounced off two tacklers and roared into the end zone for a 39-yard touchdown jump that literally was greeted by shouts of amazement from the Yale stands.

Less than three minutes later, Cosmo duplicated the play almost to the same blades of grass. This time, he went from the Eli 47, shook off three tacklers at various stages of his trip and again shot down the sidelines into the end zone. When he hurled the ball high into the stands, as he had before in sheer exuberance, and Charles Coslak's fifth straight conversion sailed into the same sector, the game was delayed for as much as two minutes while the officials rounded up a fresh ball.

In winning his personal duel with Yale fullback Chuck Mercein, who was held to 88 yards and one touchdown, to 185 and two TD's for Cos, the Princeton captain gave an exhibition that will take its place with the top performances in the 30-year old rivalry. Likewise firmly in the spotlight were his solid blocking for the tailbacks and wingbacks, and his tackling on defense.

Tiger Balance Paid Off. While Lacavazzi's contributions broke the game open, it was more than anything else, the ability of the other Tiger backs to gain while Yale keyed on Cosmo that set up the first two touchdowns. The first went to McKay, capping an 85-yard march on which he put the ball in motion on nine of the last ten plays; the second went to Ron Landeck, a fine two-way player, who likewise dominated a 46-yard drive and shed off tackle for the TD after the Yale defense had plinched in to stop Iacavazzi on the wedge play.

In sharp contrast to the running of Princeton tailbacks, who totalled 142 yards between them, Yale had little ability to the outside, its two top runners earning a total of only 38 yards. Quarterback Ed McCarthy gained 110 yards passing in the first half, but when the Tiger defense pressured him increasingly in the last two quarters, he began to overthrow his targets and his net gain in the second half was just 4.

The Tigers thus became true champions because they gave their best performance in their biggest game. The Ivy title is the first Princeton has held outright since Dick Colman replaced the late Charlie Caldwell as head coach in 1957.

The victory was the fourth in a row over Yale, and it gave the Tigers the Big Three title for the first time in six years. A bonfire marking return of the Ivy crown to Princeton is planned as soon as the tinder-dry countryside is dampened by sufficient rain.

WALSTAD DRIVING: Paul Walstad breaks loose for a long saunter in the second period, sparking an 84-yard second period drive by Princeton High School. Walstad capped the drive with a two-yard plunge. (Randall Hagadorn Photo)

Not too much is known about inger said, "We made a few the visitors. They seem to be mistakes that were quite costly. That's been true of us all said assistant coach Jerry Groninger. "They've beaten some pretty good schools, including Union. I'd rate them as good as Thomas Jefferson or Notre Dame, so we've got our work cut out for us."

Placing Madison on a level with Thomas Jefferson puts the former in potent company. A strong Jefferson squad earlier this fall blanked the Little Tigers, 27-0. Madison warmed up for the approaching battle by trouncing winless Edison, 41-12, in its last outing.

The Little Tigers, coach Dick Wood, everybody — want this one badly. With PHS currently standing 3-4-1, Wood's pre-season goal of five victories has already gone by the boards. In the past four weeks, he has seen his team lose three and tie one.

Groninger said it best: "We have to win this one; otherwise it will be a long winter. There are no more Saturdays. This last one stays with you all year long."

Notre Dame 26, PHS 20. Before the largest crowd to witness a game at Princeton's Harris Field this fall (every seat was taken) visiting Notre Dame broke a 20-20 tie in the final quarter to win, 26-20. In winning this first meeting between the two schools, the Irish remain undefeated.

If this inaugural was any indication of what's to come, area followers of high school football can look forward to a hotly-contested series between ND and PHS. Saturday's game was crammed with drama.

It had long scoring runs of 95 and 89 yards, three sustained TD drives, a touchdown pass, a come from behind bid by the Blue and White and then the visitors' final triumph. Played under warm, clear skies, with both schools displaying the same colors (Blue and White) it was a rewarding afternoon — depending, of course, on which side one sat.

Fundamentally, ND won because the Little Tigers allowed Irish ball carriers who appeared to be trapped spring loose for long TD gallops. In assessing the contest, Gronreturn by Bob Monahan and on a 27-yard pass play. The home team retaliated by driving from its own 26 to the ND 12 in four plays, the big one being a 23-yard run by Paul Walstad and a 20-yard pass from Bill Circullo to Ed McEwen. Four plays later, Walstad scored from the two, with 1:23 to go in the half.

The Turning Point. Then came an electrifying play which probably was the game's turning point. The return punt, was kicked around in the Notre Dame backfield before Ron Zukowski, ND heralded quarterback, finally found the handle on the 11. There he was met head on by a solid wall of four descending PHS tacklers. But instead of being smeared, Zukowski incredibly, was still running. He twisted away from two tacklers, evaded another and, still on his feet, raced down the sidelines unmolested. The PHS end, thinking Zukowski was about to be tackled, had cut in to give aid. All he could do was stand flatfooted as Zukowski sped by on the outside.

This was no Irish luck. It was a fine run by Zukowski, who is unquestionably the best running back in the area. And — Continued on Page 30

Sports In Princeton

it was a dreadful exhibition of poor tackling by PIHS.

To their credit, the Little Tigers came storming back in the second half and almost took the game away from the visitors. Bob Mooney scored in the third period and Walstad again in the fourth to cap drives of 65 and 51 yards. Bill Bartolomeo kicked his second of three PAT attempts to tie it up with 9:19 to go.

But PIHS couldn't contain Zukowski. On a third down play with big yardage, deep in his own territory, Zukowski responded again with a carry to the PIHS 43. From there ND went on to score the winning TD. In all, Zukowski rushed for 104 yards.

It was a tough defeat for Coach Wood who saw his team out run and outpass the Irish by slim margins. On offense, Walstad and Mooney were outstanding. Co-captain Andy Kulley a tackle, and linebacker Ed Hull were singled out by Croninger for their defensive play.

SEASON UNDERWAY
In Industrial League. Competition in the YMCA Research and Industrial Basketball League started last week.

In the West Windsor gym, Western Electric defeated Post Office, 47 to 41, and American Cyanamid swamped Opinion Research, 79 to 29. Outstanding for Cyanamid last year's champions were Bob Montgomery, Roy Cevera and Paul Shumway.

All league contests will be held on Tuesday and Thursday nights. Tuesday's game will be played at the Princeton High School gym, Thursday's at the West Windsor gym.

HUN ONE GAME AWAY
From Perfect Season. "If we beat them, we're the best. If we don't, we're still pretty darn good." So said Hun School coach Hawley Waterman, in discussing his team's finale Saturday against Delbarton — the last barrier in the way of an 11-0 mark for the Red and Black.

According to Waterman, Hun is the only unbeaten, untied prep school in the state. Should Hun win Saturday, it would be Waterman's first undefeated season at Hun in his nine years as coach there. Indeed, one has to go back 26 years to 1938 to find the last time Hun won them all. So a lot is riding on this one.

To win, Hun must upend a team that has beaten it every time in Waterman's tenure except once. That was in 1961 when Hun finished 7-1. Last year, Delbarton swamped the Red and Black, 41-7. Since the upcoming meeting is the last

Tigers Tops In Victories

The 35-14 triumph it achieved over Yale at New Haven Saturday gave Princeton the largest number of victories in the Ivy Football League since it became formal in 1956.

The Tigers now have 45, one more than Dartmouth, Harvard and Yale follow with 34 each.

The majority of these victories have been recorded while Dick Goldman has been head coach. He succeeded the late Charlie Caldwell in 1957.

between the two schools, Waterman observed. "If there is ever going to be a year for atonement, this is it."

Undefeated last year, Delbarton has lost two this season, including a 19-14 upset last week by its cross-town rival, Morristown Prep. It was the latter's first conquest of Delbarton in 14 years. Despite these two stumbles by the Irish, Waterman maintains that Delbarton is the cream of the crop among New Jersey prep schools.

"I don't think any coach in the state would dispute this," he said. "They've beaten every prep school of any consequence."

Hun Must Hum. What are Hun's chances? "I think we can beat them," said Waterman, "but things are going to have to hum. Overall, they outweigh us. We're in for a good battle."

He continued. "We're always up for Delbarton but this time I feel our boys will have that extra incentive. I know they'll do their best. We've got nothing to lose. We'll just shoot the works and hope for the best and maybe we'll be able to pick up all the marbles."

Hun won number seven last week, defeating George School, 27-6, at Newtown, Pa., in a Penn-Jersey League game. For the bulk of the first half, however, the visitors seemed headed for their first defeat.

"We were goofing up," said Waterman. "Mistakes and penalties hurt us. The whole team was sort of lackadaisical."

When George School scored with two minutes to go in the half to take a 6-0 lead, Hun snapped out of it. It marched 60 yards in six plays to take a 7-6 lead. Scott Page scored on a 27-yard gallop.

Then the visitors' superior ground game, which rolled up 265 yards rushing in 77 for the losers, began to tell. In the second half, on the first play from scrimmage, Page raced 69 yards for his second TD. In the final quarter, the Red and Black added two more.

Waterman praised the play of co-captain Warren Martz, who intercepted two passes and tackled down a third, and that of Eric Landis, an offensive fullback, filled in for the injured Bill Montee as a linebacker on defense and made the greatest number of Hun tackles. Waterman also cited the performance of Page and Jay Ruble, and quarterback Mark Savidge, who scored Hun's third TD on a 13-yard sweep.

BOWLING NOTES
Lahry's Top 3-Man Classic. With 15 points to its credit, Lahry's Men's Shop leads the Princeton 3-Man Classic bowling league, with Papp's Pro Shop in second place by one game. Wesp, 13½ wins, is in third, followed by Johnson Electric, 13; Turney Motors, 11½, and Hightstown Trust, 11.

Hal Frazee led last week's scoring with a 231, 165, 197 — 613. Bob Cavanaugh bowled a 217, Nick Sculerati, 213 and 201 Jack Lacey, a 201, and Bill Koeter and Elmer Perantoni each rolled 200's.

Ten Garage, 40 wins, is at the head of the Nassau League with Nassau Liquors and Bear Brook tied for second at 36. Others: Grover Lumber and Decker's Dairy, both 34; Cooper & Schafer, 32; Crescents, 29; Reformers and The Thorne Pharmacy, each 28; First Aid, 24; Elks 23, and Nassau Delicatessen, 16.

Individual single game scoring last week was topped by Bob Sculerati, 212. Other high scorers included: Kevin Delaney, 210; Pros Aeschbacher, 209; Val Rinaldo and Chris Christensen, 202's; Ed Duncan, 201 and 200; Bill Parks, 199; John Staebowitz, 196; Bill Whadley, 192, and Earl Farley, 191.

In the Tri-County Firemen's league, the leaders are Princeton No. 1, 38 wins, K.F.D. second with 36. Other teams: Mercer No. 3 and Hook & Ladder, "H," both 34; Plainsboro and Dutch Neck, both 32; Hook & Ladder, "L," and Kingston, both 30; Belle Mead and Lawrenceville, both 26; Rocky Hill, 22, and Princeton Junction, 20.

Norm Luck, with a 168, 184, 250 — 602, led the scoring in the league last week. Wally Brown bowled a single game of 238, Jack Petrone had a 233, and other highs were: Barry Davall, 218; Frank Stofko, 214 and 213; John Burke, 212; Bob Beyer and Frank Reading, 211; George Willis, 202 and 199; and Bip Davison, Carmen Panigaro and Jack Nicholson, all 199's.

Women's League Tied. N.J. Marine Real Estate and Merritt Insurance are tied for first place in the Princeton Business Women's league at 40 wins each. Claridge Wine & Liquor, 39 wins, is second, followed by Nassau-Conover, 35; Maul Electric, 34; Thorne Pharmacy, 30; Jefferson Plumbing, Smith Bindery and Carneiglia Sunoco, all 28; Nassau Liquors, 24; Irene's Day Nursery, 20, and Decker's Dairy 14.

Janet Groover had a three-game score of 562, and Carole Harris was second with 518. Terry Saffioti had a high single game of 194.

MUSIC In Princeton

THREE - IN - ONE
"Music Week" in Princeton.
During the past week, three concerts of importance were given before Princeton audiences at McCarter Theatre.

On Wednesday, November 11, the Deller Consort presented a program of Renaissance vocal chamber music that was truly memorable for the singers' artistry and execution. The five musicians that make up the Consort were directed by Alfred Deller, perhaps the world's greatest counter-tenor. Conducting his ensemble, which included himself as a participant, Mr. Deller led his group in performances of English, French and Italian songs and sacred part songs and madrigals. Singing a capella throughout the program, the Consort skillfully manipulated the polyphony and achieved perfect intonation in music that is highly polyrhythmic and chromatic.

On Saturday morning, this reviewer was privileged to serve as narrator for the second in the series of four Young People's Concerts being given by the Princeton Chamber Orchestra under the direction of Nicholas Harsanyi.

On this occasion, the subject was the "DANCE" and the children responded warmly to examples of Baroque, classic, romantic, contemporary and folk dances magnificently performed by the Princeton Chamber Orchestra. The program was considerably varied. Corelli, Mozart, Tchaikovsky, Bartok
and Stravinsky were the composers represented. The third Young People's Concert will take place on Saturday, March 20 and will feature the music of American composers.

Webster Plays. This past Monday, Series II concertgoers were afforded the opportunity of hearing the pianist, Beveridge Webster in one of the most challenging programs ever attempted by a visiting artist on the McCarter Theatre stage.

Mr. Webster opened his recital by playing two Sonatas by Scarlatti, the "Sonata in C Major, (Lento 205)" and the "Sonata in E Minor, (Lento 380).
From here, he plunged into the percussively exciting and quite moving Second Sonata by Roger Sessions. Then came the Chopin Sonata No. 3 in B Minor followed after the intermission by no less than Beethoven's Sonata No. 29 in B Flat, Opus 106, the "Ham-merklavier."

Any one of the three major works presented on this program would be sufficient to tax the pianistic fervor of any artist, for every work performed required of its executant the utmost in technical virtuosity, energy and expression.

Mr. Webster scored well in the first two of these categories, especially in his performance of Session's masterful score, but in the realm of expressive playing in the slow movements of the Chopin and the Beethoven, the performer's artistry appeared to lack perception.
In these slow and quiet movements, the music seemed to wander aimlessly without direction. The pianist tended to underplay the melodic materials leaving the pieces without character.

Beethoven? Not Always. It is said that Beethoven's "Ham-merklavier" Sonata is a brilliant technical achievement but well nigh impossible for any mortal to successfully bring to fruition on the concert stage.
Beethoven's skills as an innovator were undeniably great, and the sounds that are brought forth from the pages of this massive complex cause one to look up in awe when one considers that Beethoven was the younger contemporary of Haydn and Mozart.

But music must be evaluated not solely on its craft or technical achievement, and in the sum total of one's criteria, the "Hammerklavier" simply is not a good piece of music, Beethoven's hallowed name.

PRINCETON COMPOSER, PRINCETON ORCHESTRA:
David Kraehenbuehl's "A Concert of the Mysteries" will be played Monday by the Princeton Symphony Orchestra. Mr.
Kraehenbuehl is musical director and composer-in-residence at the New School for Music.

notwithstanding. The material of the first movement is commonplace, loud and uninspired when compared with the "Appassionata" or the very late Op.
109, 110 and 111 Sonatas. The slow movement is too long, having very little in the way of melodic inventiveness and the Finale, probably the most inventive of the four movements, is filled with just too much goings on to enrich the listener after having heard the previous three.

Mr. Webster was no match for this tiresome work despite his noble effort. His approach to playing seemed a bit on the eccentric side, for the heavier sections were brittle, very muddled and almost too per-cussive, whereas the quieter portions were shapeless and undertoned. The piano, too, was a wretched instrument and it should be mentioned in all fairness that this was not the university piano that has come under heavy criticism in the past, but an instrument belonging perhaps to the artist himself. In any case, its thin upper register and muddy bass made the usual McCarter instrument appear as a Beckstein by comparison.

FOR BRASS AND ORGAN

Recital Planned. A new organization called Princeton Pro Musica, composed largely of University students, will give a program of Renaissance and Baroque music this Sunday at 3:30 in Alexander Hall. Admission is free and the public is invited to attend.

Featuring music of the Renaissance period in Poland, the program will also include compositions by C.P.E. Bach, Purcell, Vivaldi and Corelli, performed under the direction of Thomas Pilewski.

Pro Musica's instrumental ensemble will comprise seven trumpets, trombone, French horn, bassoon, and tympani, plus the Alexander Hall organ.
A small mixed-voice choir is now being organized and will give a concert in the spring.

HUN PLANS CONCERTS

In New Auditorium. The first presentation in the new auditorium on The Hun School campus will be a concert by the Princeton Chamber Orchestra
under Nicholas Harsanyi. The orchestra will play this Friday for Hun School students and selected invited guests.

The concert will also inaugurate a series of three concerts to be given for Hun students during the academic year.
Janice Harsanyi will sing in January and there will be a pianist in April.

For the first concert, the Princeton Chamber Orchestra will play Mozart's Divertimento in D, K. 136; Dvorak's Serenade in E, Opus 22; Sir Edward Elgar's Introduction and Allegro for String Quartet and String Orchestra, Opus 47 and a group of Bartok's Rumanian dances.

Person To Person

From an article by J. R. Magnus in September 1961 National Geographic magazine, we observed this paraphrased quote: "A man walking plucks an apple from a tree, munches it as he walks, then throws away the core. With copulations of the apple, man in prehistoric times thus spread the apple tree where ever he travelled in even widening circles. In the struggle for survival, plants, like animals, have worked out devices to spread their seed. Some develop seed pods which open explosively, scattering seeds for yards around. Others like the dandelion, blow seeds on tiny parachutes which float in the wind. Other fruits spread their seed similarly to the apple, and it's no accident that berries and cherries were the most widely distributed plants before civilization began. Their fruit is especially suited to birds, who spread their seeds farther and faster. When a squirrel has loved and spread in the same way over thousands of years, man can only wonder at the miracle, and as Mr. Magnus says, 'it's no accident. And, if you'll come to us you'll find it's no accident that you get tremendous satisfaction and economy. May we please serve you?' ## News Of The CHURCHES

OPENING DOORS
Between Denominations. A group of the curious and the concerned who formed the Princeton Christian Unity Committee in September 1953 has been handed a pioneering assignment by the Pastors' Association.

Cutting across denominational lines, some 30 discussion groups will meet for six weeks in Princeton homes, beginning in January. On the previous Sunday, their pastors will preach on an agreed-upon text from Paul's Letter to the Ephesians. The laymen's sessions discuss how the text applies to Christian response in the world.

"As far as we know," said a PCUC member, "this has never happened here before!" The project is frankly called "an experiment in local Christian unity."

"Primarily, we hope to get the people of each church to talk to each other, to discover, as we have, that the man from the church down the street often feels the same way."

PCUC and the Pastors' Association expect that by the end of the six weeks, the groups "should be talking openly, without fearing to hurt someone else, able to look at differences without getting mad at each other."

Workshop. On Tuesday evening, nearly sixty planners from 10 churches attended a preparatory workshop held at Trinity Church. Taking part were the women who will serve as hosts, headed by Mrs. Millicent Taplow of Princeton Baptist, Penns Neck, the "conveners," or discussion leaders, led by Michael Prader and of First Presbyterian and the Rev. Kenneth Dannenbauer of Calvary Baptist, and the theologically competent "resource people," chaired by the Rev. Walter Chrym of Princeton Baptist.

After opening comments by the Rev. Dr. Robert R. Spears, Trinity rector and Pastors' Association president, and by Mrs. Ulli Steltzer of Messiah Lutheran who spoke on behalf of the PCUC, the three groups then separately tackled the details of the Ephesians Project.

Two Prongs. The PCUC, self-starters and strictly unofficial from the beginning, reported to the Pastors' Association last March on nine exploratory sessions held in local churches.

The churches had often caught fire as denominational beliefs were explored. They had met in each other's churches. "Where's Friends Meeting?" listened to the denomination's beliefs and asked pointed questions.

Taking part were Ermalene Gaskins and Morgan Harris of Witherspoon Presbyterian, J. Roger Hite, Winifred Vogt, Ann Westover and J. Rogers Woolston of Calvary Baptist; Michael Prader and of First Presbyterian, Ulli Steltzer, Ingrid Rose, Harry Suceop and Bonnie Wagner of Messiah Lutheran; Reeves Black and Glenn R. Fything of Princeton Methodist.

Also joined Elson and Monette Wade of St. Paul's, Lutheran, Princeton, and Helen Stetley of Second Presbyterian. Mr. and Mrs. Donald B. Gustafson of the Society of Friends, Carl Buscoe, Ruth Hahn, Marie Scott and William Skippach of First Baptist, Anne Mason, George Lewis, George Rohrbacher, Noel Skudloff, Natalie Vaughan and Helen Young of Trinity Parish. The Rev. Walter Wagner of First Presbyterian was convener.

"Where do we go from here?" the PCUC asked the Pastors' Association in effect. The group recommended 10 neighborhood study groups and 2 denominational study "If we know more about our own craft, we would have gotten more out of this."

The group also wanted to anniversary of the death of know "just how far the so-called "need for grass roots ecumenicity" could manifest itself in our own town."

They reported, "We have found that in our meetings we have... a progression from information, to friendship, to bewilderment, to frustration, to exhilaration. We have found also that we make progress best when our attention focuses on two targets: (1) the more general study of that which unites and that which divides us as Christians, and (2) the specific Princeton situation."

The Results. From this report has developed an increasing number of church study groups, reviewing the denominational belief. Also, the Ephesians Study Project, suggested in June to the PCUC by the Pastors. "There are a lot of theological misunderstandings about Ephesians," said a PCUC member.

Called "An adventure in Ecumenicity" in a church bulletin, the Ephesians Project so far involves ten Protestant, Trinitarian churches of the community.

Taking part are the three Presbyterian churches of Princeton, Dutch Neck Presbyterian, Calvary and Princeton Baptist churches, Messiah Lutheran, Princeton Methodist, Trinity and All Saints' Episcopal.

Laymen interested in the discussions are referred their pastor or to members of the PCUC coordinating committee: Mrs. Millicent Taplow, Princeton Baptist, Glenn Fything, E. Reeves Black, Methodist; Mrs. Helen Stetley, Second Presbyterian; Michael Prader, First Presbyterian; Mrs. Maxwell, Calvary Baptist; Mrs. Ermalene Gaskins, Witherspoon; Mrs. Raymond Phillips, Dutch Neck Presbyterian; George Lewis, All Saints' Chapel; William Skipwith, First Baptist; Miss Natalie Vaughan, Trinity.

COMMUNITY SERVICE SET

For Thanksgiving Day, The Princeton Pastors' Association will again hold a community Thanksgiving service at 11 a.m. next Thursday in University Chapel.

The offering, traditionally given to Princeton Hospital, will be used to support the chaplaincy at the hospital.

Dean Ernest Gordon will conduct the service, assisted by the Rev. Albert Tyson of Messiah A.M.E. and the Rev. Luther Kriebell of Messiah Lutheran.

The Rev. Robert R. Spears, Jr., of Trinity Parish, president of the Pastors' Association, is preacher. The Rev. Ian McIntosh, who began his work as chaplain at the hospital on October 1, is also to take part. Members of the various church choirs will sing under the direction of Dr. Carl Wernich, Chapel organist.

TO MARK ANNIVERSARY

Of Kennedy Assassination, The Rev. Ralph S. Meadow, of Grace Episcopal Church, Charlestown, S. C., will preach at 11 this Sunday in University Chapel, the first

Born in England, the Rev. Mr. Meadowcroft attended the Royal Technical College in Salford before entering the ministry. He is a graduate of Rutgers and Drew Theological Seminary. In 1932, he received his master's degree from Union Seminary.

From 1939 through 1946, he conducted a national radio program over NBC and Mutual networks. He became rector of Grace Church in 1947, the same year his book, "Postlude to Skepticism" was published.

"I am sorry, the number you have reached is not..."

Exasperating, isn't it? It makes us unhappy, too. Yet avoiding wrong numbers is so easy — and can save so much time. Just remember these tips:

1. When you're not sure of a phone number, look it up. Check the area code, too. Jot down both. And then dial. By being sure, you'll save time in the long run.
2. When dialing, be sure to bring your finger all the way to the finger stop.

3. And, dial carefully — simple carelessness is probably the biggest cause of wrong numbers. If you get a wrong number, just call the operator. She'll see that you're not charged.

P.S. Should you be billed for a wrong number, call the Telephone Business Office. It will be straightened out. Call anywhere, but dial with care.

40 Year's Experience

By Archimedes (Bernard)

One of the mainstays of feminine beauty—complexion—is dependent on many factors. Food habits, toxicity of the blood stream, exercise, and, of course, the individual's personal care are all involved.

Some complexions suffer from excessive amounts of oil; the danger spot being primarily in the triangular area formed by the nose and chin. Make-up tends to clog in this area and enlarged pores and blemishes occur. A non-alkaline soap worked into this area in a circular motion is usually an effective control.

Speaking of effective—the most effective hair styling is to be had at TAVERWOOD BEAUTY MANOR & COSMETIC SHOP, 69 Palmer Square West. Phone 924-3982.

HELPFUL HINT: Hair needs—in fact, demands care and attention. Remember, however, that the proper way to brush the hair is from the scalp out.

Obituaries

John Young, 84, of 15 Park Place died November 17 in Princeton Hospital. He was the father of John Young Jr. of 7 Randall Road.

Born in Aberdeen, Scotland, Mr. Young retired in 1944 as comptroller of Allegheny Power & Light Company. He moved to Princeton two years ago from Great Neck, L.I. He was a past master of Scotia Lodge 624, F&AM, New York City; past president of the Fifth Masonic District, New York, and a life member of Jerusalem Chapter, Royal Arch Masons.

Also surviving are three grandchildren and a brother, Thomas Young of London, England.

The service will be held at 7:45 p.m. this Wednesday at the Kimble Funeral Home, 1 Hamilton Avenue. Interment will be in Nassau Knolls Cemetery, Fort Washington, L. I. Friends may call between 7 and 9 p.m. at the funeral home.

James T. Shorten, 57, died November 11 at his home on Berrien Avenue, Princeton Junction. He was the husband of Mrs. Mary D. Shorten.

Born in South Brunswick Township, and a resident of Princeton Junction for more than 30 years, Mr. Shorten was an employee of the Railway Express Agency. He was an honorary member of the Princeton Junction Fire Department and the West Windsor Democratic Club.

Also surviving are two sons, James T. Shorten Jr., with the Navy, and Walter Shorten of Illinois; a daughter, Mrs. Joan Cavanaugh of Princeton Junction; a brother, Joseph Shorten of Pinevald, and five grandchildren.

Requiem high mass was celebrated in St. Paul's Church. Interment was in the parish cemetery under direction of the Kimble Funeral Home.

Emanuel Green, 48, of 132 Mercer Street, Hightstown, died November 11 in Helene Fuld Hospital. He was the husband of Mrs. Ethel Green.

Born in Orangeburg, S.C., and a Hightstown resident for the past 27 years, Mr. Green was employed by the Central New Jersey Cooperative.

The service was held in Mt. Olivet Baptist Church, the Rev. Jerome Bedford officiating. Interment was in Cedar Hill Cemetery.

W. Floyd Wilson, 72, of 39 Laurel Avenue, Kingston, died

November 14 in Princeton Hospital. He was the husband of Mrs. Mabel Wilson.

Born in Kingston, Mr. Wilson was retired superintendent of Kingston Cemetery. He was a member of the Kingston Presbyterian Church.

Also surviving are two sons, Robert of Kingston and Floyd of Yardley, two daughters, Mrs. Stanley Perrine of Dutch Neck and Mrs. John Duthie of Berkeley Heights, N.J.; and six grandchildren.

The service was held at the Mather Funeral Home, the Rev. Clarence K. Bixey officiating. Interment was in Kingston Cemetery.

Mrs. Minerva Carpenter, 75, of Scott Avenue, Princeton Junction, died November 13 while visiting in Waretown, N.J. She was the widow of Jacob Carpenter.

Surviving are two sons, Jesse of Princeton Junction, and Edward A. of Trenton; a daughter, Mrs. Clara E. Witt of Burlington; a brother, Augustus Hanksin of Freehold; a sister, Mrs. Florence Hulshart of Point Pleasant, seven grandchildren and seven great-grandchildren.

Graveside services were held in Maplewood Cemetery, Freehold.

Robert McBurney, 88, of Hopewell, died November 14 at the home of his daughter, Elizabeth, in Chadds Ford, Pa. A retired farmer, he had lived in Hopewell for 35 years.

Also surviving are another daughter, Mrs. Emily G. Nymark of Chadds Ford; a son, Robert of Glen Mills, Pa.; six grandchildren and three great-grandchildren.

The service was held in Hopewell, with interment in Highland Cemetery.

Mrs. Nathalie Wheeler Wilson, 73, of Carter Road, died November 15 in Princeton Hospital.

A former resident of Blawenburg, she is survived by three sons, Henry W. of Princeton; Douglas W. of Yardley and Mortimer A. of Scotsville, Va.; and 12 grandchildren.

The service was held at a Hopewell funeral home, with the Rev. Albert Smith, pastor of the Blawenburg Reformed Church, officiating. Burial will be in Highland Cemetery, Hopewell, at the convenience of the family.

Music In Princeton

PIANIST TO PERFORM

In Westminster Recital, Robert Antonian, candidate for master's degree in music, will give a piano recital next Tuesday at 8 in the Westminster Playhouse. The recital will be open to the public without charge.

Mr. Antonian began to study the piano when he was eight. After graduating from high school with honors, he entered the Juilliard School of Music where he is now a scholarship student with Josef Raieff.

BOYCHOIR TO PERFORM

In Christmas Concert. The annual Christmas concert of the Columbus Boychoir School, sponsored by the parents for school projects, will be presented December 16 at 8:15 in Alexander Hall. The Boychoir will be assisted by men from the Westminster Choir College in Christmas portions of Handel's "Messiah" and will present its own selection of new and traditional Christmas music.

The Boychoir will be conducted by Donald T. Bryant, director of the Columbus Boychoir. Mr. Bryant will be assisted by Robert Haley.

On December 22, the Boychoir will be featured on the Christmas program of the TV Bell Telephone Hour. In April, it leaves for a three-week tour of Europe.

Middle age, in people and in houses, can be a most becoming period; and this house has the mellow charm that makes it so. Eaves, pitched rooflines, arches, etc. give it a fun English look; and the construction should make it last about as long. A corner fireplace, flanked by bookshelves, highlights the good-sized, airy living room. Four more rooms of varying sizes downstairs, including the kind of up-to-date kitchen not usually found in houses of this period and price, offer a choice of usage. Three pleasant bedrooms, 1½ baths, plus a large, dry, floored basement round out the living space. Location, on the edge of the University, is convenient for walkers, sports fans, scholars—in fact almost anyone but real country lovers. Only $28,500 too.

ELECTRIC LIVING GUIDE

AND NOW IT'S "CUSTOM-HEATING"

Electricity Provides Precision Choosing

"Electrical heating has a third or two in common with custom tailoring; it really fits the situation, and it outlasts lesser substitutes."

"But one difference . . . all things considered, electrical heating isn't a luxury matter when it comes to cost. Complete electrical home heating these days is competitive."

That's how the utility executive decided to characterize the newest form of heating in his speech to the audience of over 400 at the Women's Club luncheon, Falloring, clothing, he felt was something the gals could understand.

— Comfort, Considered Prime —

Comfort, he asserted, is the prime reason for the growing usage of electricity in heat homes . . . and comments in the question-and-answer period confirmed the contention.

However, he stated, electrical heating excels in many other attributes too:

1. Electrical heating systems provide flexibility of choice not otherwise available. Thermostats can be set on a room-by-room basis which "gives you the exact degree that spells comfort for you for the room you're in and also "permits the lowering of temperatures in rooms which are not in use."
2. Actual installations costs of electrical home heating systems are reasonable.
3. Maintenance costs are either very low or "nothing at all" . . . and this means not just a couple of years, but at least a couple of decades."
4. Electrical houses have "status." If the electrical industry's recommendations have been followed in a "P," an electrically heated house is an all-year house, as comfortable when the heat is off in summer, as it is when the heat is on in winter. The secret here is insulation. Exact standards are prescribed right up to the last attic vent.
5. Electrical heating, being instant, is instantly on the job to combat freak cold spells after a stretch of balmy weather.
6. When paired with good insulation electricity is the 100% usable fuel. In all other systems, percentage is wasted between the furnace and the radiator. Electricity is beamed into the room with no waste.
7. Electrically heated houses, when properly insulated are "easier to keep clean." The heating system itself adds no dirt and the good insulation deflects outside dust from entering.
8. Electrical heating is time and space saving. "No time wasted rendering warming fuel, no space wasted on bulky equipment."

UP-DATE... ANTIQUE HEATING NOW!

This elegant relic reminds us of by-gone days. Be elegant, better your days ahead with total electric home heating.

QUESTION BOX

- Q. Why is electrical heating silent?
- A. Because there are no moving parts in most types of equipment.
- Q. How fast does electrical heating warm a room?
- A. It goes to work the instant the switch is flipped on. It is this "instantly available" feature which is making it such a popular choice in motel construction.
- Q. Is there a special type electrical fixture for heating bathrooms?
- A. Most complete home heating systems utilize the rail-and-rod cable or a wall-flo fixture in bathrooms . . . but there's no necessity for a "special fixture" per se.
- Q. Insulation is expensive. Why do you recommend it so strongly with electrical heating?
- A. Ever hear of "penny wise and pound foolish?" Of course you have! Electrical heating is efficient . . . and the industry didn't want a good product getting a bad name by being paired with inferior construction. Hence the recommendations are spelled out (a) to insulate thoroughly and (b) how to insulate thoroughly, quite thoroughly. As a matter of fact, of course, any extra spent on insulation of the outset is made up in a few years through the reduced operating costs. In the meantime, of course, there's the not-so-little matter of comfort. In a well built house you can back in that good electrical heat and not be fighting old drafts.
- Q. Is it practical to install electrical heating on a room-by-room basis until the entire job is completed?
- A. That's the expensive way. Further, it is not recommended. During the whole house at once, an electrical contractor will tell you, sees that you get the unified efficiency and comfort that are characteristics of electrical heating. Moreover, a reputable contractor converting you to heavy housewiring alone, will tell you that you have nothing to gain, and a lot to lose in both money and time by trying to have it done piecemeal. It really means the problem, see your bank about a loan. A first-rate job on conversion to electrical heating is the kind of up-grading that attracts mortgage money.

WANTED HOUSE

We can't count the times over the years that discerning buyers have inquired hopefully about this delightful stone house, so great in its appeal. It is not an enormous house but beautifully scaled for elegance and comfort. Absolutely unique grounds. Unsurpassable in charm. No other like it in Prince-

PENNINGTON . . . in this friendly neighboring community, noted for its exceptional real estate values, this 2-story Colonial, on almost an acre, has all the charm you'd expect of a century-old house. Living room with fireplace, step-down dining room, study, 3 bedrooms, 1 bath. Low taxes, fruit trees in the backyard and a small stream are added attractions. $22,500

A GRAND OLD HOUSE . . . located on almost half an acre, in the Western Section of the Borough, yet just a short walk from the University, this is one of those prized Steadman houses that rarely become available. Outdoors, there is a walled garden in back, and the house is shaded by huge trees. Indoors, the rooms are vast (living room 28 x 18), with 12 foot ceilings, and there are 4 fireplaces as well as a powder room. Second floor: 3 bedrooms, 2 baths; 2 maid's rooms and bath. Third floor: 2 bedrooms and bath. Kitchen needs modernizing and the house needs redecoration, but paint and your good taste could transform this property into one of our town's outstanding residences. (sole agent) $56,000

COLONIAL . . . the professor who enjoyed this comfortable home for many years, recommends the neighborhood for its cultured residents, as well as for its convenience — both to the University or downtown . . . Living room with fireplace, newly modernized kitchen, study (or 4th bedroom), and bath on first floor. Second floor: 3 bedrooms, 1 bath. Large dry basement. Riverside School (sole agent) $29,500

ONE STORY . . . this is, perhaps, the finest small home available in Princeton. Close to town, with central air-conditioning, the rooms are spacious and beautifully proportioned, 2 bedrooms, 2 baths, powder room and a large study (which could be a guest room). $72,000

EDGERSTOUNE . . . here is one of Princeton's most beautiful residences, sited among rare and gorgeous trees on a 1.3 acre lot that slopes down to a chain of small ponds fed by a faithful brook. The house has spacious living areas, 4 bedrooms, 3 baths, and 2 maid's rooms and bath. There is nothing finer available in Princeton at this time. $115,000

 The great limestone mantle gracing the living room has just such illustrious origins and is set off so perfectly by the hammered beamed ceiling, pegged oak floor, and tall French doors of this distinguished room. No less splendid is the rest of the house with its leaded casement windows and chestnut woodwork, all so much a part of authentic Tudor design. Five bedrooms, three baths, and a powder room in the main house. There is also a charming tenant wing with several bedrooms. Beautiful grounds and a Western Borough location without peer in Princeton. Most interesting at $85,000
